BREATHLESSLY described by MTV as a combination of 'The thrills of The Six Million Dollar Man, the wit of Star Trek and the lust of Melrose Place', The Super Adventure Team is actually more like Thunderbirds or Joe 90, albeit with some Nineties twists. It features a bunch of marionettes as intrepid heroes who save the world from Armageddon each week. Our heroes are led by the lantern-jawed Colonel Buck Murdock, whose love for abseiling his way out of a crisis is matched only by his love for his partner's wife, the gorgeous Talia Criswell. And when you're a marionette, it seems that your love life can get very tangled ... The Super Adventure Team was dreamt up by Robert Cohen and Dana Gould of The Ben Stiller Show.
MTV, Saturdays from 21st, 12.30am

AS Mission: Impossible fans know, IMF stands not for International Monetary Fund but for the more important Impossible Missions Force. It was headed by Jim Phelps (Peter Graves), immortalised by a self-destructing tape recorder and the words, 'Your mission, should you decide to accept it ...' The series ran from 1967 to 1974, and Phelps's special agents included Rollin Hand and Cinnamon Carter, played by Martin Landau and wife Barbara Bain. Leonard Nimoy, already famous as Star Trek's Mr Spock, joined the series in 1970. Most noteworthy casting concerned Greg Morris, who played Barney Collier. For Morris was black and, in 1966, it marked a big advance in racial equality for him to be as intelligent and brave as his white counterparts. The forthcoming run features the original episodes, not the updated 1988 series.
Granada Plus, from Monday 16th, see listings for details.

L!VE TV must pay their presenters handsomely, for when 24-year-old Sarah Matravers landed the job of presenting The Fashion Show she treated herself to an outlandish £27,000, banana-yellow Lotus Elan convertible. Still, Sarah was already doing well as a busy model and as Darren Day's adventurous sidekick in LWT's Saturday evening show You Bet! And it seems that she aspired to a showbiz career from an early age, for she owns up to an embarrassing home video of herself as a tot running up to the camera and screaming, 'Hi, fans!' The item Sarah likes best in her own wardrobe, or at any rate the item for which she finds the most adjectives to describe, is 'A fantastic, over-the-top, fake fur, long, fluffy, purple coat. And I can't wait for it to get really cold so that I can wear it again.' And her favourite labels are Versace – 'for the flamboyance' – and Dolce and Gabbana 'for the sheer class.'
L!VE TV, daily, see listings pages for times

UK Horizons Down Under Night features back-to-back programmes with an Aussie theme, including the episode of Clive James Postcards in which he visits Sydney, the city he left 30 years ago. The evening also includes an episode of the infamous fly-on-the-wall series Sylvania Waters, in which the family celebrates Christmas with no discernible spirit of goodwill, and an episode of Billy Connolly's World Tour of Australia. The theme evening kicks off, however, as is only right and proper, with British television's greatest Australian icon, Rolf Harris, who in Animal Hospital Down Under meets a dingo with toothache. But the highlight of Down Under Night is What Sort of a Gentleman Are You?, Jane Treays's riveting documentary about Joel Ryan, one of Melbourne's two dozen legal heterosexual male prostitutes. It is a remarkably candid film, in which Ryan comes across surprisingly well as a working man trying to provide for his family while his loyal wife acts as his receptionist.
UK Horizons, Saturday 21st, from 6.00pm

toons, all things ajor musical jamboree

FEISTY MTV presenter and former Playboy model Jenny McCarthy will be hosting the 1998 MTV Europe Music Awards. A few weeks ago, at London's Café de Paris, MTV revealed the line-up and nominations, the results of which will be beamed live from the huge FilaForum stadium in Milan. Dominating this year's nominations are All Saints (above, with Jenny McCarthy), who are up for best group, best song, best album and best breakthrough. All in all, the event looks set to be a glittering affair. MTV, Thursday 12th, 8.00pm

AS FANS of South Park will know, the subversive American cartoon series – created by Trey Parker and Matt Stone – portrays Barbra Streisand as the Embodiment of All Evil. This hasn't gone down at all well with Streisand. 'She said she wondered if shows like South Park are responsible for all the negativity in today's culture,' says Parker. 'She doesn't realise that she's responsible for all the negativity in today's culture,' adds Stone. What Streisand has done to deserve these barbs is not entirely certain. In America, the cartoon's fame has placed Parker and Stone on the covers of numerous magazines. One of them, Newsweek, even suggested that with South Park on TV, the country should fear for its children. But Parker is disdainful of the bad press. 'As bizarre as it is,' he says, 'there's this overlying sweetness to it all. Like – hey – you know what, the world's all right.' Sky One, series two starts Sunday 8th, 11.00pm

GEORGE HAMILTON is not spending this month in Manchester to top up his celebrated tan, but to present the daily Granada Breeze show, Livetime. Though better known for playing the dastardly Joel Abrigore in Dynasty, for films such as Love at First Bite, for stepping out with the likes of Elizabeth Taylor and, of course, for his tan, Hamilton is also an experienced TV presenter, having co-hosted George & Alana with his ex-wife (who later married Rod Stewart). But this is the first time he has presented a TV show outside of America and he declares himself thrilled to be following in the footsteps of such celebrities as Leslie Ash, Julia Carling and Della Bovey, all of whom have presented on Granada Breeze. Hamilton, romantically linked in the past with Joan Collins, Britt Ekland and Vanessa Redgrave, as well as Liz Taylor, also says that he expects the weather to be cold and rainy in Manchester, 'But, hopefully, I will find some nice English woman to warm me up.' The old smoothie.
Granada Breeze, weekdays from Monday 2nd, 3.00pm

'Allo Ally

Calista Flockhart shot to fame with 'Ally McBeal'. Now she's set to storm the film world too

WITH everyone talking about TV icon Ally McBeal, it seems ironic that the actress who plays her, Calista Flockhart, was once firmly against a career in television. Calista (which means 'most beautiful' in Greek) was born in Illinois in 1964 and grew up in Minnesota. Before she began her career in TV she spent ten years working in theatre, on and off Broadway, and won considerable acclaim as an actress. Although originally a reluctant TV star, her outlook changed when she met the producer of Ally McBeal, David E Kelley. They hit it off immediately – many have remarked that Flockhart resembles Kelley's wife, Michelle Pfeiffer, a comparison Flockhart finds 'hugely flattering'.

Flockhart cut her teeth as a TV actress in 1992 in a series called Life Stories: Families in Crisis, but it was with Ally McBeal that success came. In the States, the show became a phenomenon, made Flockhart a household name and won her a Golden Globe Best Actress Award. You can judge for yourself this month as Ally McBeal comes to Living. McBeal is a single attorney who, in her private life, is deliciously neurotic. In the courtroom, though, she's a stylish counsel who never lacks conviction. Things get complicated when she gets a job in the same firm as her married ex-boyfriend and Ally has to deal with the fact that she's still not over him.

Everybody has a verdict on Ally McBeal. She has been described as a 'Generation X Mary Tyler Moore'. Some say she's liberated, some say she's spoilt. Others are fascinated by her miniscule skirts, but almost everyone is hooked on the show. As Ally McBeal's status continues to grow, Flockhart refuses to be a one-show wonder and is currently working on the movie A Midsummer Night's Dream with big shots Michelle Pfeiffer and Kevin Kline. On the subject of success, however, Flockhart is pragmatic: 'I haven't got anything to lose. If it doesn't work out, I have a lot more money than I did when I started.' Although, for Calista Flockhart, the likelihood of a career nose dive seems a virtual impossibility.

A sneak preview of what's coming to cable

● Rumour is rife in showbiz circles that Friends star Jennifer Aniston is soon to marry Brad Pitt. Meanwhile, fans of the show can find out what happens with that other Friends wedding – Ross and Emily's – when the new series starts on Sky One in January.

● Paramount Comedy Channel will screen NewsRadio starring the late Phil Hartman (you might remember him as the voice of Troy McClure in The Simpsons), who was murdered earlier this year. The series, in which Hartman plays a tetchy news anchorman, starts next month.

● How many people would risk gambling away their car on a game show? Quite a few, actually, as Sky One's Beat the Crusher, starting in January, proves. Winners walk away with a gleaming new set of wheels. Losers have to stand and watch their own car get mangled.

● Producers of the long-running daytime soap Days of Our Lives have reportedly offered a role to Monica Lewinsky – though they haven't said whether they'll be using her experiences in Washington for new story ideas ...

● Disney Channel's December line-up includes the original 1961 animated version of 101 Dalmatians, plus the animated series of Hercules, which features the voices of Sandra Bernhard, Jennifer Jason Leigh, James Woods and Louis Gossett Jr.

Drew love

She was known as Hollywood's wild child and her young life seemed destined for tragedy. But Drew Barrymore turned out to be a survivor, as Garth Pearce reports

DREW BARRYMORE knew that she needed something to make Hollywood sit up and take notice. She had used up her credibility with every shocking turn of events, from being a teenage alcoholic and drug addict to marrying a barman on a whim and leaving him after just six weeks. Then came Scream. The film, directed by Wes Craven, demanded that she spend around ten minutes in terror and then die a horrible death. She accepted the role, covered up her tattoos with special make-up and delivered prettily, as a much-loved daughter left at home in charge of the house. Scream became a big hit and the result, two years later, is that Barrymore, at 23, is enjoying her splendid reinvention.

She has already starred in another worldwide hit this year, The Wedding Singer, and is currently on screen as Cinderella in a grown-up romance, Ever After (the film opened in the UK last month), which has already grossed $60 million since its release in America. She also seems happy and in control at last, with her own production company.

'There is no doubt that Scream was something of a turning point,' she says. 'It was frightening, but fun and campy and just what I needed to get myself back on track. I was terrified going in for it and spent a lot of time with Wes Craven talking about how we should do things.'

Drew is frank about how and why she decided to play the role as she did: 'I could have tried to fight back and put a different spin on the character,' she says. 'But I had to think, "How would it affect me, if I was confronted with someone in my own house who was set on murder?" I would be fighting for my life, but would be crying and puking on the floor. So I wanted her to be on the verge of a heart attack. I said to Wes, "If I don't do this right, then it will come off as the worst acting."'

They worked hard on the key scene. 'I had to cry for eight nights straight, on 14-hour filming stints, with camera shots from all angles,' she says. 'I had to fix in my mind things that had made me sad and desperate in the past, so by the time the week was over I was in a complete state. It took me a few weeks to completely recover.'

Drew comes with much 'baggage'. Her grandfather was the notorious actor and drunk, John Barrymore. Her father is the reclusive actor, John Drew Barrymore. Her mother, Jaid, with whom she recently reconciled, allowed her to be sucked into showbusiness madness after child stardom as a six-year-old in the film E.T.. In her autobiography, Drew relates how, at the age of 13, she was drinking 'to forget my pain' and smoking pot 'because it was fun'.

Her teenage years also include an ill-fated marriage to Jeremy Thomas, a 31-year-old Welsh-born bar owner, four weeks after meeting him, and a Playboy spread of pictures that did not meet with the approval of her godfather, director Steven Spielberg.

She is now reflective of her recent past and takes a more balanced view. 'My parents are not bad people,' she says. 'There is no resentment or bitterness. It was just a case of them not really wanting a child.

'I have now bought a house in Los Angeles and my dad lives in the guest house, which is the irony of the century as we have never before lived together. My dad couldn't handle me as a child, but can deal with me as a friend in adulthood.

'I wanted proper parents, but guess they were not on my cards. I am fine with the fact that my family is totally wacky, but I think that people should be grateful if they have a functional family life. Never knock it.'

Drew is also in love, with 27-year-old actor Luke Wilson, whom she met on the small-budget film Home Fries. Again, she seems to have learned from past mistakes. 'I have kept things very low-key during the last two years,' she says. 'He is from an incredibly classy, intellectual family and I want them to feel good about who their son is with.

'It would have been easy to rush into love and start living together, but we have time. I always thought that relationships had to be really heavy to be deep. They don't. The lighter and more fun you have, the greater the chances are it is going to last after the instant lust has faded.'

Her new attitude and lifestyle seems to be paying off handsomely. The glossily produced Ever After, co-starring Anjelica Huston, is another success. She delivers a performance that carries just the right mix of pathos and hope.

'Cinderella in this script is active, athletic, courageous and smart at a time when virtually every woman was not expected to read and write. But then, as now, if you are smart and can survive, you are going to make it. If not, then you fall through the earthquake's cracks.'

This turn of phrase seems to sum up Drew Barrymore herself. It seems she has hauled herself out of the cracks. Her future looks bright.

Screaming Drew murder! The terrified young teenager is about to meet an untimely and gruesome death in Wes Craven's 'Scream'

PHOTOS: HERB RITTS/VISAGES/COLORIFIC

With his love of innuendo, Julian Clary takes to his new game show Prickly Heat like a fish to water. But Daphne Lockyer discovers there's a lot more behind the comic exterior

Life's a beach!

Sky One

Prickly Heat
Sundays 9.00pm

JULIAN CLARY is not the kind of man you'd imagine relishing the idea of spending two weeks away in Majorca with 32 highly heterosexual twentysomething extroverts (33 if you count the Prickly Heat co-presenter, Davina McCall).

Privately, and for all the camp bravado, saucy innuendo, Lycra and lewdness on which his career is based, his personality is, actually, the kind that would need sun protection factor 25.

Off screen, in other words, he is sensitive, soulful and as complicated as a Rubik's cube. But chameleon – as well as comedian – that he is, on screen the absolute reverse is true. Remember, if you will, highlights of his colourful career, which have included Sticky Moments and All Rise for Julian Clary.

So it is that there is no better man for the Prickly Heat job than Julian Clary. The job in this case being to preside over – how shall we describe it – It's a Knockout meets Ibiza Uncovered. 'Well one couple was having sex within two days,' he tutts.

'It was like being in charge of a class full of naughty schoolchildren, really. There were beautiful ones, clever ones and funny ones. My job was part teacher, part nanny and part Butlins redcoat. By the end I felt almost parental towards them all.'

For all that, those of you who've been watching the show will know that Julian's job is also to encourage competitors – who, let's be honest, needed no encouragement whatsoever – to take part in the kind of games that might be his own private idea of hell.

How embarrassing would it be, for example, to anyone whose inhibitions were within vaguely normal range, to have to bounce their bums up and down on a chair with large bunches of grapes in their bikini bottom while a team mate catches juice in a bucket beneath them? How ghastly might Julian himself find it to roll down the beach spread-eagled inside a giant wheel?

'Well,' he admits, 'personally I wouldn't like it at all. But then I wasn't a contestant, and you have to remember that these people auditioned to come on the show and by nature they're a very extrovert bunch.

'You'd say, "Now this game is about seeing how much lard you can get down your swimming trunks." And they'd say, "Okay then," without giving it a second thought. But I don't think any of those who took part walked away and felt they'd been exploited or compromised in any way. I think they thought it was a lot of fun.'

The fun and games, of course, didn't stop when the beach activities were over. After the sun went down, the cameras kept on rolling as contestants sampled the delights of the sun, scenery and sangria – as well as each other. Mercifully, on the whole, Julian and Davina were able to excuse themselves from the carousing, possibly, you imagine, to lie in a darkened room and recover from all the fun and frolics. 'Well it was very tiring during the day,' Davina volunteers. Absolutely!

Diplomacy aside, of course, Julian admits that he's a man who both likes and regularly needs his own company. Since the death of his long term partner, Christopher, from AIDS in 1991, he has lived alone and that's the way he prefers it.

'At the moment I do have a gentleman caller, as they say. But we don't live together. Sometimes I think people are just better on their own and maybe I'm one of them.'

Home at the moment is a flat in North London that he shares with his cat, Gloria. Fanny the Wonder Dog, who formed such a vital part of his act when he was the Joan Collins Fan Club, is now spending her autumn years with Julian's mum, Brenda. 'Well, she's 17 years old, you know.

'Every now and then I think about buying another puppy, but when it comes to the crunch I don't because it seems so disloyal to Fanny. Besides, really, I'm away so much working that it's difficult to have pets.'

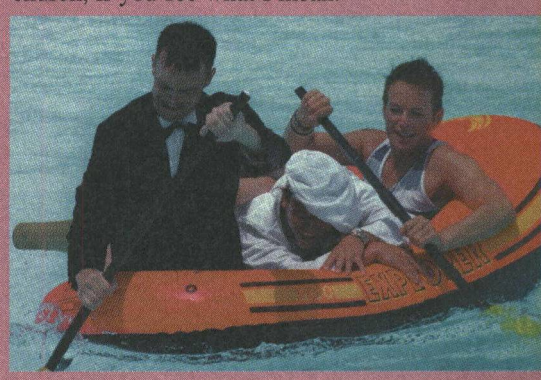
For all that, he's a man with love to give. During a slew of interviews last year he spoke of his sadness at never having been a father. Interviews whose content he now seems to regret.

'I was doing a show at the time about gay parenting and so for the purpose of interviews I pretended I desperately wanted a child, though I knew I didn't really.

'However, if I was a gay woman I'm sure I'd probably have had a child by now. But there you are. I don't have the equipment to do that and at the age of 39 I'm resigned to the idea that it will never happen.'

There are, of course, women who unashamedly have the hots for Julian. (All, you might say, are potential mothers). A large percentage of his live audiences, indeed, are women who have followed his career from its full make-up and feather boa genesis to its more subtly tailored suits metamorphosis. In Prickly Heat he looks simply like a good-looking man in designer shades and beach wear. 'I just look like me, really,' he says.

This could be the reason that female contestants were also drawn to him. One, the Italian Louisa, strangely on the Welsh team, needed to be told in words of one syllable why Julian could never be hers. 'She asked me what "gay" means and I said, "Well, I sit on the other side of the church, if you see what I mean."'



Hello, sailor! Julian enjoys a bit of sun and games on location in Majorca for the game show 'Prickly Heat'

Still a rebel after all these years

Marlon Brando is rated by many as the finest cinema actor ever. His great roles are behind him but he's still fun to watch in small comedies such as this month's Sky Exclusives offering, 'Free Money'. Words: Angie Errigo

MARLON BRANDO treats fans to a startling appearance this month in a zany new comedy Free Money. The legendary one, now 74, can be seen alongside Charlie Sheen and Mira Sorvino. Compelling as always, he plays a sadistic prison warden called Swede who is less than thrilled when his twin daughters announce they are pregnant by a couple of shiftless knuckleheads (Sheen and Thomas Haden Church). Although he's being investigated by a dogged FBI agent (Sorvino) for a series of suspicious deaths at his penitentiary, Brando's odious Swede is obsessed with getting his sons-in-law behind bars where he can do his worst. It's a flamboyantly nutty performance, especially for offering the spectacle of the icon of screen acting plunging head first into a toilet bowl.

Devotees may shudder, but Brando's rare film outings this decade have been happiest in comedies – sending up his landmark Godfather role as an ice-skating Mafia don in The Freshman in 1990, and making light of his own years in psychotherapy as a psychiatrist in Don Juan De Marco. Not for Brando the dignified cameo of the elder statesman thespian. But he has always resisted others' expectations.

Many rate Brando the greatest American film actor of all. His originality, daring and intense beauty was captured on screen in a string of remarkable performances before he was 30 – A Streetcar Named Desire, Viva Zapata!, Julius Caesar, The Wild One, and On the Waterfront. He is the godfather to modern cinema's nonconformist leading men. The anti-hero as heart-throb originated with Brando and continued for over 40 years with James Dean through Jack Nicholson, Robert De Niro and Al Pacino to Johnny Depp, Brad Pitt and now Leonardo DiCaprio.

Brando was born in Nebraska, into a middle-class family. His parents' alcoholism and adulteries badly affected their only son and, after he was expelled from a military academy, he followed his older sisters to New York. He entered the Dramatic Workshop where he discovered Method Acting, based on instinct, improvisation and deeply personal exploration. At 23 he created a sensation on stage as the inarticulate, sweaty brute Stanley Kowalski in A Streetcar Named Desire. Later, in the 1951 film version, Brando's bullying Stanley was so explosive, so mesmerising that audiences seemed to forget that he was the bad guy.

In the early Fifties, Old Hollywood deplored Brando and what he represented: not just a new breed of free-thinking, reluctant stars, but what was feared as an anti-social force. But Brando's charismatic personality and independence produced undeniably great work. He won his first Oscar for his sensitive palooka in 1954's On the Waterfront and, chafed at being stereotyped as a moody mumbler, played the singing gambler Sky Masterson in Guys and Dolls, an Okinawan prankster in Teahouse of the August Moon and a conflicted Nazi in the The Young Lions.

Brando as the odious warden Swede in 'Free Money'

In the Sixties, Brando worked in a strange assortment of films. He ranged from majestic to eccentric, but continued to command respect. He became less interested in acting, stating that it was an unimportant job, as he turned his attention to the Civil Rights, American Indian and environmental movements. But in 1972 his star regained its lustre in Francis Coppola's gangster masterpiece The Godfather, which brought Brando his second Oscar for his masterful Don Corleone.

Approaching 50, Brando turned in one of his greatest performances, and the last in which he could be accused of being sexy, in the controversial Last Tango in Paris.

By now he was sick of acting and retreated for long spells to his private paradise in Tahiti. He was sometimes lured into a movie, like 1978's Superman, for an unprecedented $3 million, but his tempestuous private life had contributed to his withdrawal. Stormy relationships with exotic beauties Anna Kashfi, Movita, Tarita and Rita Moreno, among many, led to passionate rows, court battles and attempted suicides. The once athletic pin-up surrendered to his obvious weight problem. And he's wrestled with troubled relationships with his children (at least eight, though even he doesn't seem to be sure). The family woes climaxed horribly in 1990 when Brando's eldest son Christian was charged with the killing of his half-sister Cheyenne's lover.

It's a theatrical saying that inside, every clown wants to play Shakespeare. Maybe the reverse is true. Having become a figure like King Lear off screen, it may be no wonder that when Brando now musters the energy and commitment to make a film, it's to act the buffoon in a bit of light movie nonsense. His screen immortality was ensured nearly 50 years ago. Now if he just wants to have a bit of a laugh (and, presumably, pay the bills) he's still doing it his way.

Animal Planet

Nature's Babies
Fridays 10.30pm

REGISTERING high on the cute-ometer this month is Animal Planet's new series Nature's Babies. The series of four one-hour films follows the high drama of the early stages of life for several species of animals from birth to independence and reveals a remarkable diversity of nurture. Did you know, for instance, that these two wild baby orang-utans cling to their mother until they are about four or five years old and are not fully weaned until about the age of seven? The baby wildebeast, on the other hand, is given a crash course in survival from the second it is born – its anxious mother prods it until it can walk, usually about 10 minutes after the birth. And baby giraffes grow at the incredible rate of an inch a day, though, tragically, many new-born giraffes don`t survive the six-foot fall they experience at birth. Each episode of Nature's Babies focuses on a family of animals with its own unique story and is guaranteed to soften even the hardest of hearts.

IF YOU'D MET ROLF HARRIS, YOU'D BE A HAPPY BUNNY TOO

With his love of life and a magical way with pets, Rolf Harris is the perfect presenter for 'Animal Hospital'. Jane Oddy joined him as he hit the road for UK Horizons. Photographs: Justine Bohan

FOR some time now it's been cool to like Rolf Harris, but to really measure the man's popularity is to watch him in action charming two little girls on Animal Hospital Roadshow. The Jukes sisters have been waiting nervously for autographs and are in ecstasy when they finally meet their bearded hero. He doesn't disappoint. He teases them, chats to them and doodles his autograph in their books.

When he leaves, the entire room is filled with the feelgood factor and when asked why they love Rolf so much, Rosie and Poppy immediately chorus, 'Because he's nice to animals.'

Later, between breaks on the series of Roadshow, the man himself confesses that he is shattered and you are reminded that Rolf is now 68, although he could pass for a man in his mid-forties.

Despite his tiredness from the busy schedule, he still looks natty in a purple shirt and chinos, and has a twinkle in his bright blue eyes. He is full of the unfailing enthusiasm that has made him such a star.

'How else would you be?' he asks. 'It's never occurred to me to be otherwise. Every day is a new day with lots of lovely new interesting things happening.'

After more than 30 years on British TV, the Australian-born performer has his own pet theory about why his animal shows have been so popular in this country.

He believes it is all about the special bond between man and beast. 'The English are so uptight about each other but with animals it's okay to lavish all their love and affection on them. People are hard pressed to express their emotions to other human beings – animals don't answer back and they give you unconditional love. It's hard to resist.'

But that is to ignore his own appeal. His infectious love of life has played a huge part in the success of Animal Hospital, now in its seventh series, and Rolf's Amazing World of Animals. His undisguised emotional involvement is also touching to watch. He is often moist-eyed when he sees a pet in distress or there's a life-or-death operation going on. When Floss, an old dog in the first Animal Hospital series had to be put down, Rolf and the owner were sobbing in each other's arms. 'It was a turning point,' he says. 'It was the most moving thing. I think for people in the UK to see two grown men unashamed to cry about a dog was a revelation. It made such an impact on everyone.'

Animal Hospital
Daily, 6.00pm

Rolf with 'Animal Hospital Roadshow' reporters Shauna Lowry and Rhodri Williams, and Stanley, the giant white rabbit

He also finds it particularly hard to deal with cases of cruelty. But in the Animal Hospital Roadshow, the emphasis is on much-loved pets and two of the best-known vets from the RSPCA Harmsworth Hospital, where the BBC series is filmed, chief vet David Grant and Jeremy Stewart, travel with a crew around the country examining animals and giving their expert opinions on their ailments. The day we met Rolf, he was on the campus of the Royal Veterinary College in Hertfordshire, with David Grant checking out the problems of Speedy the ferret, Anderton the guinea pig and Stanley, an enormous albino British giant rabbit.

Rolf adores all things furry and feathered and has a rapport with the animal kingdom that would have Doctor Dolittle seething with envy. Married for 40 years, he and his artist wife Alwen share their Berkshire home with three cats and a poodle called Summer. Always a devoted animal lover, he grew up in Perth surrounded by pets.

'I've had them all my life. I think what made me so fitting for the programme is that I can identify with people coming in worried sick with problems.'

Rolf began his career as a cabaret performer in the Fifties and people tend to forget he's also a talented musician – as well as the trademark didgeridoo, his repertoire encompasses the piano, accordion, bagpipes and, naturally, the stylophone. He's an artist too.

Rolf first appealed to British audiences with the 1960s novelty hits, Tie Me Kangaroo Down Sport, Jake the Peg and the unashamedly sentimental Two Little Boys, which even today can still bring a tear to a grown man's eye.

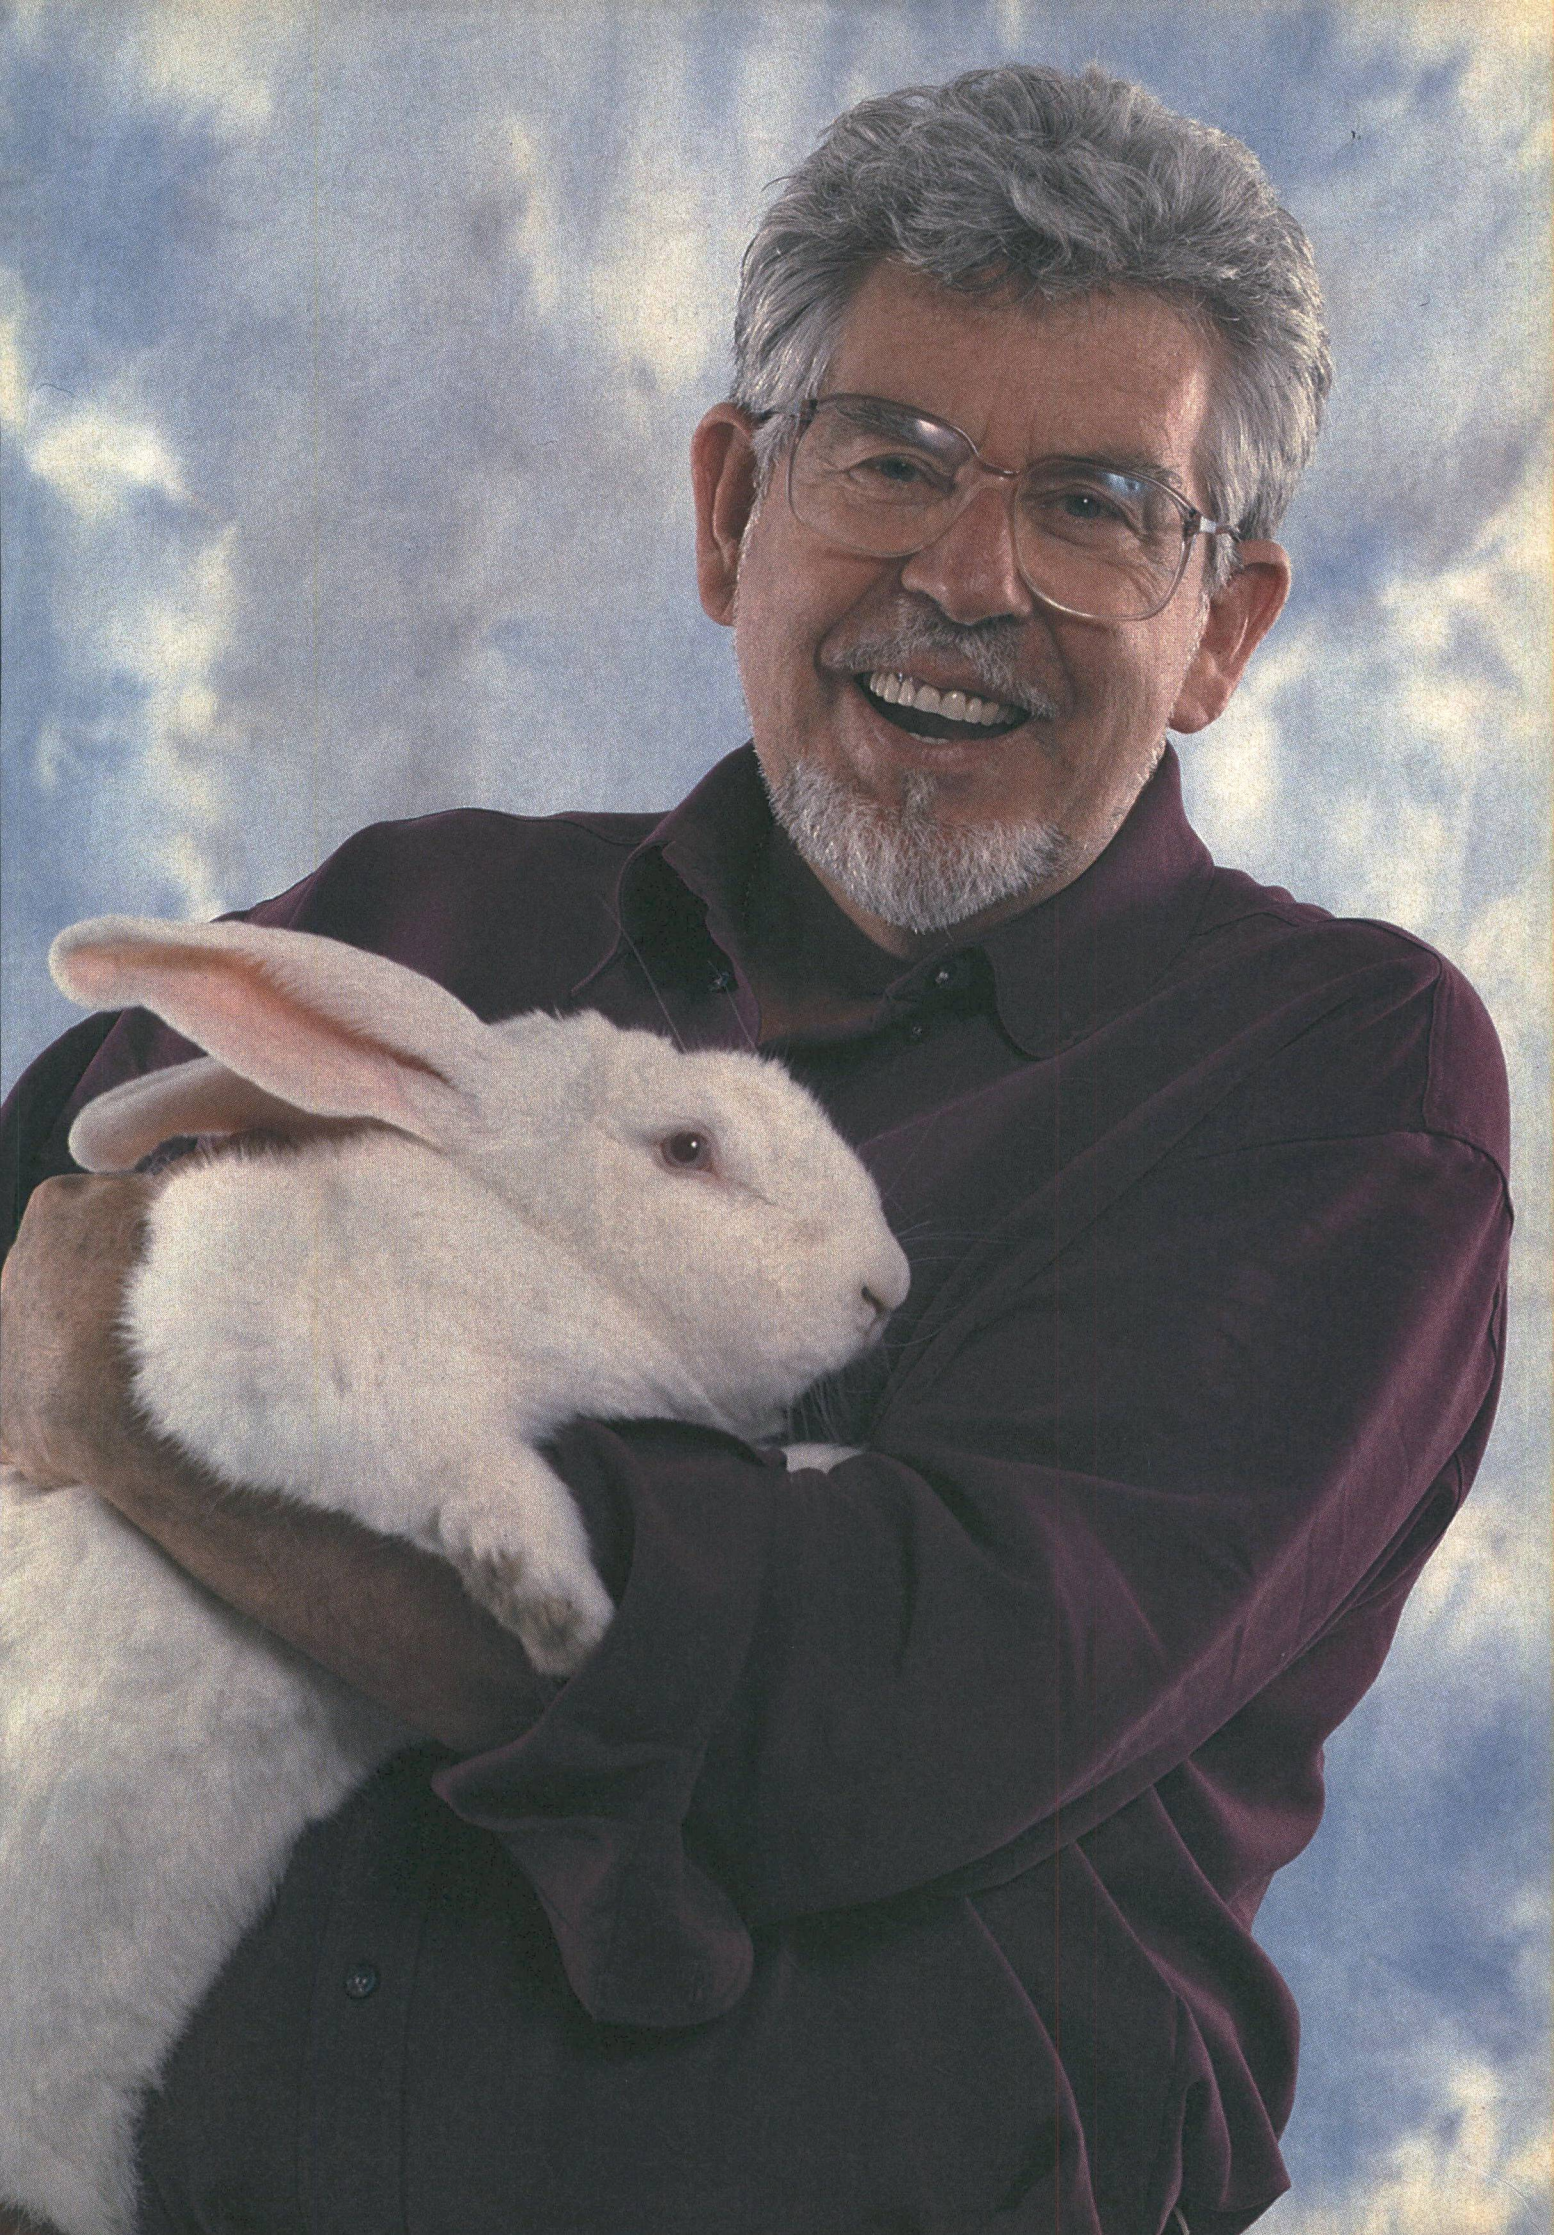
He then went on to host his own TV shows and, after a period in the doldrums during the Eighties, his career enjoyed a renaissance in the early Nineties when he recorded a version of the Led Zeppelin hard rock standard Stairway to Heaven with his wobble board. It became a huge hit.

He is such a cult figure now that he was a headlining act at this year's Glastonbury Festival, performing alongside the likes of The Verve.

At an age when most people are thinking of retirement, he has never been busier and has absolutely no plans to slow down. He raises his eyebrows and shakes his head at the idea. 'Age is just a number. I forget about my age. What does it matter as long as you're doing what you love to do? I'd be bored stupid if I retired.'

He admits he is happiest when painting or entertaining people. And the Jukes sisters, who have brought their hamsters Mango and Paw Paw to see Rolf, are already big fans. Was he as nice as they expected? 'Even nicer,' they sigh.

● You can see Rolf every day at 6.00pm on UK Horizons in Animal Hospital, Animal Hospital Roadshow and Rolf's Amazing World of Animals. See the daily listings pages for more details.



They've got

It's a funny old world, and Montreal's international comedy festival for their big break. This year, as always, the Britcom brigade

Paramount Comedy

Festival of Fun: Starts Monday 23rd 11.00pm

IT'S a quirky celebration of the hottest new talent in comedy, and leading the pack are duo Lee and Herring. Paramount Comedy Channel's zany Festival of Fun, filmed at the Just for Laughs comedy festival in Montreal, features a star-studded cast in offbeat situations.

Britain's laughter lads were the hit of the week in Montreal with their fast, furious brand of stand-up, but Paramount has added an extra dimension to their humour.

Stewart Lee and Richard Herring host the seven-part series, which focuses on the behind-the-scenes action at Montreal as well as providing front row seats at the best live gigs in town.

Probably the biggest British star featured is Lee Evans, who went straight from his own Channel Four series to a lead role in the Hollywood movie Mouse Hunt and a part in this year's hit film There's Something About Mary.

At Montreal, Lee – so acrobatic he seems to be made of rubber – staged a sellout gig and every night was given a rip-roaring standing ovation almost as raucously energetic as his act.

They like their humour earthy in Canada. Lee's constant use of pretend breaking-wind noises in his routines had his audiences virtually rolling in the aisles.

Across town at Comedyworks, a hot smoky club where anything goes, a team of our brightest and best staged their own all-British show – Britcom.

And among the bright new talent there was 27-year-old peroxide blond Adam Bloom. 'You must know by now I'm not the kind of person who calls women "birds" ... sweetheart,' he quipped.

Sounds laddish, but offstage, Bloom, one of the most promising of the newcomers, is a painfully sensitive, rather serious and sweet young man who worries that he may have gone too far.

He certainly didn't go too far for the Canadians. And unlike so many of their French cousins in Europe, it seems the people of Montreal don't mind laughing at themselves either.

Trading insults is a major part of British humour, and insulting the French has long been a favourite past time.

'I want to say something about Montreal. I have been here a couple of days now and I have nothing to say,' award-winning Irish comic Dylan Moran, expression mournful, delivery deadpan, told the audience.

to be joking!

attracts some of the brightest new talent from the four corners hoping was there in force. Hilary Bonner went along, just for a laugh …

Lee and Herring joined in the sharp-edged fun, and they pulled no punches.

Herring: 'I hate the French.'

Lee: 'That's very rude, Richard. We are in French Montreal.'

Herring: 'You're right. I apologise. Je déteste les Français.'

In his solo act, Stewart Lee puts a deliciously wicked twist on a boring old story. 'I want to tell you how my dependence on hard drugs has allowed me to conquer my previous addiction to Born Again Christianity.'

The Montreal audiences included hosts of American TV producers and Hollywood agents, who flock annually to the prestigious Just for Laughs festival, now in its 16th year, seeking out fresh talent.

They lapped up all the irreverent humour our boys could throw at them and talk of offers from Tinseltown was the constant bar-room buzz.

'This festival has to be the place to be,' says Richard Herring, who, with partner Stewart Lee, excited plenty of interest among the influential Americans in town. 'The hotel bar is full of people wheeling and dealing every night.'

Tim Vine, well known as the host of TV game shows such as Fluke, Whittle and Housemates, specialises in a relentless barrage of schoolboy one-liners: 'I have a friend who has fallen in love with two schoolbags. He's bi-satchel. I was on an aircraft and I sat next to this bloke who looked just like me. I said "What's your name?" He said, "Tim Vine." I was beside myself.'

In the series, Tim will also be seen out on the street as he quizzes the locals on unlikely topics such as, 'Did you know that Canada invented instant-mashed potato?'

Julian Barratt and Noel Fielding specialise in a slightly gentler, more outlandish humour.

'People ask, "How's life?" I don't know. I have nothing else to compare it to,' is typical of Barratt's whimsy.

In Festival of Fun they team up with Canadian comic Sean Cullen to present a selection of unlikely sketches from Montreal tourist attractions.

Montreal provides a showcase for up-and-coming comics. And Rowan Atkinson, Jerry Seinfeld and Jack Dee – all of whom feature in the series on archive footage – are among today's big names who owe at least part of their success to the festival.

L.A. Confidential
Daily till Tuesday 10th

KIM Basinger's famous pouting mouth is set in a wide smile as she reflects on her remarkable comeback. She suffered a succession of flop movies and a court stripped her of millions of dollars for pulling out of one of them. But she quietly reinvented herself for L.A. Confidential and won an Oscar for Best Supporting Actress.

The film shows the dark underbelly of what was really going on in the booming film city of Los Angeles during the Fifties – widespread corruption and a secret web of illicit relationships – and Basinger's performance suggests she was drawing on her own sobering experiences of LA during the Eighties and Nineties.

'I had never appreciated how cruel it could be,' she says. 'I was treated like an outcast, after being part of the movie society. When things were going well, I was worrying and thinking too much. Even when I was exercising, running on a treadmill, I was thinking: "Gotta hurry, gotta run faster, gotta go somewhere." But what was I running for? Where was I going? I was sucked in, like everyone else.'

Her career, built on her sex appeal in such films as 9½ Weeks, Blind Date and Batman (playing the sultry Vicki Vale), crashed spectacularly in 1993. She made a verbal agreement to star in the film Boxing Helena in 1992, but pulled out and was taken to court by the producers. She was ordered to pay around $8 million.

Although the fines have since been reduced, she was declared bankrupt as she was nearing 40. Doubts over her looks, talent and judgement poured in from all directions. She became one of Hollywood's untouchables: broke, publicly shamed and desperate.

'It showed me the dark side of life,' she says. 'I knew I was in trouble in court when the plaintiff's lawyer stood up and said to the jury: "Now, we all know, since we were all in school, what it feels like when the pretty girl gets everything she wants." I realised that this case was about jealousy and getting even. I was also hopelessly out of my depth to fight it.

'The whole experience shattered my confidence. I felt I was up for murder rather than just saying "no" to a film I had not even signed for. It also brought home how much I was judged on my looks. I thought to myself: "There is more to me than this. I am going to have to prove it to others."'

But Kim disappeared off the scene altogether. She had a daughter, Ireland (now aged three), with actor and husband Alec Baldwin, and reflected on her past record of bad decisions. She rejected Basic Instinct, which made Sharon Stone a star. She also rejected Sleepless in Seattle; it re-established Meg Ryan as America's sweetheart. Her choices, Cool World and The Real McCoy, flopped disastrously and the lone consolation of The Marrying Man was that she fell in love with Baldwin and married him.

When L.A. Confidential came along, she was ready to take the risk. She plays world-weary hooker Lynn Bracken, with the look of Fifties idol Veronica Lake, in a film set at a point when Los Angeles was being corrupted as never before by the vast fortunes and fame of its inhabitants. It is packed with excellent performances from Kevin Spacey, as a cop turning a blind eye to corruption; Russell Crowe, who prefers to extract confessions with his fists; and former Neighbours star Guy Pearce as a police inspector who wants to clean up the department and the city. Danny DeVito has rarely been better as a greasy editor of a gossip magazine.

But it is Basinger, now 44, who sneaks in and steals the whole film. She explains, in the lazy accent of her native Georgia, how Hollywood can prove so seductive. 'It was a dream for me. Thousands of kids venture there every year, many because they've won some contest back home or someone told them they could act. They come out wanting to be a big movie star. We all know how few make it.

'But Hollywood holds out that beautiful fantasy, with the grim reality hovering like a shadow. I tried to hold back on one thing – and that was to keep a vulnerable look on life. We are all kids at heart and yet the place has the ability to make people build up hard exteriors and ruin lives. Kids don't understand the reality. Neither did I.'

Basinger, who first visited LA as a model in the Seventies, still holds on to why she became an actress – watching her father, Don, react to old movies screened on television at their home in Athens, Georgia. 'He was not a cold man, but was not emotional either, so when I saw his face in the reflections of the TV, either howling with laughter or choking up with tears, I remember thinking: "My God, nobody in this world can get to him except these people." I became hooked with the whole movie thing.'

L.A. Confidential and Basinger's performance in it are certainly worth appreciating. The film has few flaws – though a clumsy shoot-out at the end is one of them – and is movie-making at its best. For Hollywood in general and Kim Basinger in particular, it's something of which to be proud.

Amazing Gracen

The star of the new 'Highlander' series brings a touch of romance and glamour to the show. Words: Patrick Holm

PHOTOS: SCI-FI CHANNEL

MYTHOLOGY, morality and a good dose of romance are the main ingredients in the new Highlander series, which sees American actress Elizabeth Gracen take over from Adrian Paul as the leading 'Immortal'. The long-running series is based on the 1986 movie starring Christopher Lambert as Connor MacLeod, an ordinary man who discovers that he is in fact an Immortal, and will live forever. However, as the film's slogan said, 'there can only be one', and the Immortals battle between themselves to the death, with one beheading the other (it's the only way they can be killed) and gaining his strength in a process called The Quickening. The idea is that, eventually, one Immortal will triumph and gain the power and knowledge of the universe.

The film spawned two sequels, and a third, starring the television cast, is in pre-production at the moment. The TV series took the mythology that the films had begun to explore and added new layers and a cast of regular supporting characters. But after five series of Highlander, star Adrian Paul was ready to let his sword drop, even though the show was still popular. In Highlander: The Raven, producers decided to introduce a female as the lead Immortal and Gracen got the job.

The 38-year-old Arkansas-born actress made her name in 1982, when she won the Miss America beauty pageant. Since then, she's had parts in a string of crime thriller and action movies, including Steven Seagal's Marked for Death.

'Highlander was unique,' Gracen says. 'I loved the myth, just the morality tales that Highlander projected. I think that Raven is going to find its own place. Having a female lead as the Immortal naturally changes the show and the people in production are starting to see that it gives it a different identity.'

Gracen plays Amanda, a thief who was encountered by Adrian Paul's Duncan MacLeod on a number of occasions over the years. 'Amanda's a magical combination,' Gracen enthuses. 'A producer I'd worked with before called and said, "Would you like to go to Paris and do this character, she's an immortal who's 1200 years old and fights with swords." I went, "Let me think about it ..." took a few seconds and said, "Sure." She's so well rounded, sort of a glamorous character. I don't think that you can go wrong with that type of image. She's a classy dame.'

Amanda is partnered in the series with a former police officer, Nick Wolfe, played by Paul Johannson. Raven promises more Immortal action, but with new romantic undertones as the two leads get to know each other and the clash between lifestyles becomes more apparent. As Elizabeth Gracen promises, 'What's going to happen with this character is that she's going to evolve into a very incredible person – definitely.'

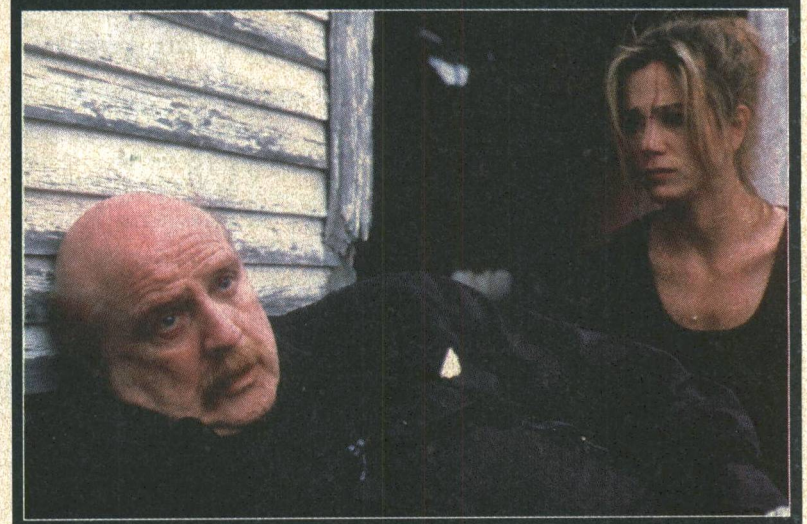
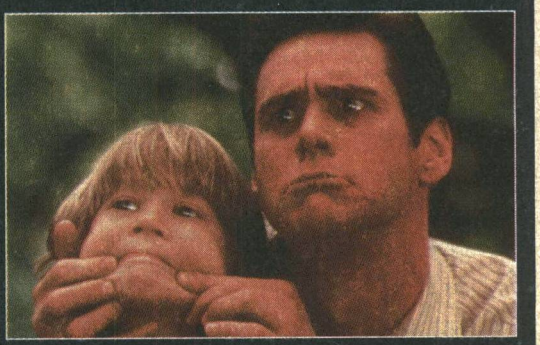
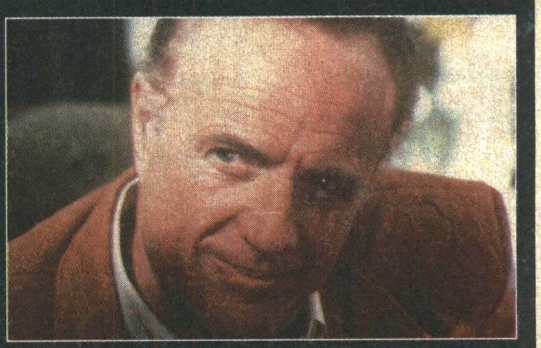
NOVEMBER PREMIERES



Above: Legendary Hollywood heavyweight Marlon Brando appears alongside Mira Sorvino in the Sky Movies Exclusive 'Free Money': Sky Premier Sunday 1st 9.30pm



Right: Make 'em laugh! Rubber-faced funny man Jim Carrey and screen son Justin Cooper star in the hugely entertaining fibbing farce 'Liar Liar'. Comic complications ensue when Cooper makes a wish that his workaholic lawyer father would tell the truth for a whole day: Sky Premier Saturday 14th 8.00pm



Right: Consummate character actor James Caan plays a big league drug baron in the noisy, knockabout action comedy 'Bulletproof'. Adam Sandler and Damon Wayans generate plenty of chuckles in this tale of an undercover cop who teams up with a petty crook to get closer to Caan: Sky MovieMax Friday 13th 10.00pm

Right: Nice and sleazy does it! Woody Harrelson supplies an Oscar-nominated portrayal to 'The People vs Larry Flynt', the biopic of the top-shelf magazine publishing tycoon and controversial campaigner for free speech: Sky Premier Saturday 7th 10.00pm

Family strife! Charles Durning, Anne Bancroft, Cynthia Stevenson and Steve Guttenberg try to survive a stressful Thanksgiving in 'Home for the Holidays', a chaotically comic directorial effort from Oscar-winning actress Jodie Foster: Sky Premier Thursday 26th 10.00pm

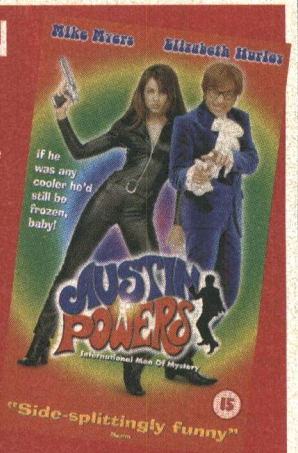
WIN AUSTIN POWERS VIDEOS



With its emphasis on the sort of saucy British humour of which screenwriter-producer-star Mike Myers is a fan, the irresistibly funny Austin Powers: International Man of Mystery spoofs such fondly regarded Swinging Sixties fare as The Avengers, The Man from UNCLE, Blow-up and the early Bond movies. Myers illuminates the film with his puckish playing in a dual role as the mod adventurer of the title and the power-crazy villain Dr Evil. The plot sees cryogenically frozen Sixties adventurer Powers being thawed out in the politically correct present, where he teams up with Elizabeth Hurley's Agent Kensington and, armed with a crushed velvet suit, a Burt Bacharach album and a Swedish-made sex aid, resumes his 30-year-old battle with his arch-nemesis. To celebrate Twentieth Century Fox Home Entertainment's retail release of Austin Powers, Cable Guide is giving away 10 copies of the video, priced £14.99 each.

To enter, simply send us the answer to the following question on a postcard by 30 November:

WHO WAS ROBERT VAUGHN'S CO-STAR IN 'THE MAN FROM UNCLE'?

Send your entry to POWERS competition, Cable Guide, 172 Tottenham Court Road, London W1P OJJ. The first ten correct entries selected at random will win. The usual rules apply.

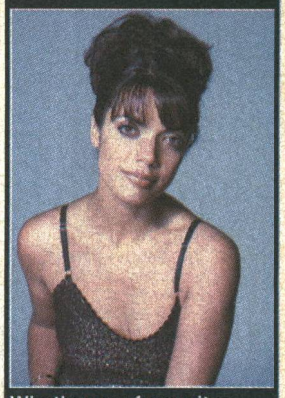
IN THE FRAME
JENNY POWELL



What's your favourite movie and why?
The Lion King. I'll admit it, even if nobody else will!

Who's your favourite actor?
Andy Garcia – a moody Latino type with a sensitive side. I could fall into his eyes and happily drown in them forever.

Who's your favourite actress?
Meg Ryan. She's so good at comedy, which is difficult.

What's your first movie memory?
Bawling my eyes out while watching Bambi.

What's your favourite movie memory?
Watching Grease at the cinema the first time around. It was my first time without having any adults in tow. I felt like a grown-up at last.

What's the scariest moment you've seen on film.
In Se7en when a tortured, skeletal body is found and it convulses – it's still barely alive. My popcorn went south!

What's your favourite comedy?
Blazing Saddles – especially the campfire scene.

What's your favourite horror film?
My boyfriend once promised we'd stay in to watch a romantic video, and Dawn of the Dead is what I got! It was a great excuse to nuzzle in his arms, though.

What's your favourite sci-fi film and why?
Contact. It was very refreshing to see sci-fi combined with spirituality.

What's your favourite weepie and why?
The Bridges of Madison County. It's such a simple and soulful love story.

MATCH OF THE MONTH

EVERTON V NEWCASTLE

Sky Sports 1 Monday 23rd 7.00pm – LIVE

Last season, Everton V Newcastle might have been pencilled in as a dull 0-0 draw. But now two of the biggest clubs in the country are back in the entertainment business. Ruud Gullit's pledge to bring 'sexy football' to St James' Park has been well documented. But Everton's Walter Smith has been equally keen to end the club's reputation for producing gritty if unglamorous teams. 'Everton is a great club with a proud tradition and it deserves success. I can see a lot of comparisons with Glasgow Rangers,' Smith said. 'We're looking to entertain. When you start in any new job you try to make your team difficult to beat. But early on we stretched that too far by being difficult to beat without trying something extra. We're putting that right.' The signing of striker Ibrahim Bakayoko from French side Montpellier should get Everton going, while Newcastle under Gullit have rediscovered the magic that earned them the nickname The Entertainers under Keegan. 'I never said this phrase "sexy football",' insisted Gullit. 'But I do want us to enjoy our football and win games. It's what it's all about.'

AUSTRALIA V ENGLAND
Coverage of day one of the first Test from Brisbane. Australian spin bowler Shane Warne faces a fight to regain his fitness in the Ashes series. Warne is believed by many to be the finest slow bowler of all time, but his latest injury has put a serious question mark against his career. If he returns, England's batsmen could be in for a difficult winter. Presented by Mark Nicholas with commentary and expert analysis from Ian Botham, Bob Willis and Paul Allott.

TESTS OF CONFIDENCE: THE ASHES

CHRIS HATHERALL talks to England captain Alec Stewart

ENGLAND cricket captain Alec Stewart (above) believes he is destined to do what no man has done for 11 years – bring home the Ashes. England go to Australia this month for the start of the biggest Test series in world cricket with their skipper issuing a stirring war cry.

'We can win, there's no doubt about that. And we believe it,' said Stewart. 'I like to be greedy. I want us to win the Ashes first and then win the World Cup in England next summer as well. That's my programme for England, and it's what we need to aim for.'

For the first time in recent years the nation's cricket team is not a laughing stock. They go down under on a real high, having beaten South Africa in a five-match series. The recent triumph over South Africa has given England belief, and with Stewart they certainly don't lack leadership.

'To beat South Africa, who I rate in the top three, was a great effort and that has given us confidence. We have to build on it. But I don't have to tell anyone that. If you need motivating to play for England there's something wrong. We're going out there representing 50 or 60 million people, and that's good enough for me.'

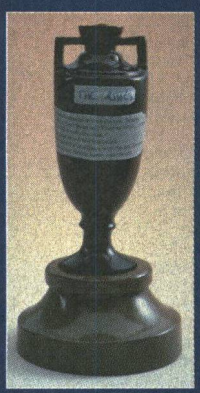
Incredibly, Stewart is hoping that Shane Warne, Australia's top spin bowler, wins his fitness race to play in the series. Warne is only just back from an operation on his wrist and there are doubts over when he will be fit to face the Poms. Stewart said: 'I honestly hope Shane is fit because if we do beat Australia then I want to be able to say we beat the best. Warne is a world-class bowler, the best leg-spin bowler I've ever seen and probably the best there will ever be. But I still want him to play and I think the other lads feel the same way.'

However, Stewart is angry at suggestions that English cricket cannot produce a Shane Warne of its own. 'We don't have a Shane Warne,' he said, 'but then he's a one-off. Nobody else has produced one either. We're striving to produce a good England side and I'm not going to criticise our bowlers when we've performed so well this summer. I prefer to ask what other side has produced a Graham Thorpe or a Mike Atherton? You can turn it around and be positive. Our aim is to go out there and win the Ashes and prove we are every bit as good as the Australians.'

A BRIEF HISTORY OF THE ASHES

THE ASHES originated in 1882, when the Australians beat England at the Oval by seven runs. It was the first time England had lost to the Aussies at home, and four days later The Sporting Times printed a mock obituary to English cricket. It read: 'In affectionate remembrance of English Cricket, which died at the Oval on 29 August 1882, deeply lamented by a circle of sorrowing friends and acquaintances. RIP. NB. The Body will be cremated and the Ashes taken to Australia.'

The following winter, the Hon IFW Bligh took an England team to Australia and was presented with the ashes of a burnt pair of bails to take home. The velvet bag designed to hold them was deemed not grand enough, and some ladies in Melbourne bought an urn to hold them instead. Bligh died in 1927 and the Ashes were bequeathed to the MCC in his will; they have been held at Lord's ever since. Even when Australia win the series, they don't take the Ashes home.



- ENGLAND have not won the Ashes since the 1986-87 series in Australia when Mike Gatting retained the title after David Gower had been sacked as captain.
- THIS isn't England's worst run without an Ashes series win. They once went 18 years and 362 days without winning the Ashes, only ending it in 1953 under captain Len Hutton.
- IN 1995, England – inspired by Darren Gough – won their first Test in Australia for nine years. The Australians still won the series, and the Test careers of Mike Gatting and Graham Gooch came to an end after the tour.
- ENGLAND'S record number of runs in a Test match against Australia was WR Hammond's 905 in 1928-29.
- IN 1956, Jim Laker took a record 46 wickets against Australia, while the Aussie record is held by Terry Alderman, who took 42 wickets in 1981.
- ENGLAND scored their highest innings total against Australia at the Oval in 1938, amassing 903-7. Aussie bowler Fleetwood Smith conceded 298 runs in his 87 overs, while England's Len Hutton hit 364 with the bat.
- AUSTRALIA'S highest innings against England came at Lord's in 1930 when they declared on 729-6. Aussie legend Don Bradman dominated the series and scored 254. Bradman went on to grab an amazing total of 974 runs in the series.
- IN 1902, Australia were bowled out for 36 in Birmingham. It remains the lowest innings total for an England-Australia Test.

MY MOST MEMORABLE GAME

MIKE 'STEVO' STEPHENSON

Sky Sports' Rugby League Commentator

Second Test, Old Trafford
Great Britain 10 Australia 14
10 November 1990

I'VE NEVER shouted as loud in the commentary box as I did during this game. After winning the First Test, Great Britain had a chance of winning back the Ashes for the first time in 20 years, and the atmosphere at Old Trafford was incredible. The game was a classic. I tried to be impartial but, having played for Great Britain myself, it was impossible. Eventually, the whole match hinged on the last few minutes. With the score at 10-6 to Australia, Great Britain's Paul Loughlin intercepted Ricky Stuart's pass and ran the length of the pitch to score. The place went mad, but in the excitement Loughlin crashed the ball down instead of going under the posts. The kick was missed but 10-10 was still all right. Then disaster. With just 15 seconds left, Stuart caught a long kick and embarked on an incredible 50-yard run, finally passing to Mal Meninga to score. It was 14-10 and the Old Trafford fans were devastated. I just couldn't believe it. After the game everyone was emotionally exhausted.

THE MONSTER MASH

If Aliens had been set in a museum it may have turned out something like this week's high-octane horror offering The Relic. A boisterous, back-to-basics creature feature, the film turns a monster loose in a natural history museum, in which a gala is being held, to wreak all manner of mayhem. Director Peter Hyams, who also handles the cinematography, summons up an atmosphere of relentless foreboding with his shadowy compositions and prowling camerawork, and skilfully conveys a sense of panic as he cuts back and forth between the stately reception and police hurtling through corridors elsewhere in the building with their dogs. He coaxes enjoyable performances from his cast, and Tom Sizemore, who has supplied solid supporting turns to movies such as Natural Born Killers, Heat and, most recently, Steven Spielberg's harrowing war epic Saving Private Ryan, holds the screen well in his first starring role as the superstitious cop on the case.

GLAMOUR, GOSSIP AND A GREAT TAN

The man with the most famous tan in Tinseltown brings a touch of glamour to Granada Breeze this week. Hollywood leading man, soap star, raconteur and legendary Casanova George Hamilton illuminates Livetime as guest presenter of the show for one month only. No doubt Hamilton's appealing brand of self-deprecating charm and wit will win over a new generation of female admirers.

Granada Breeze from 2nd 3.00pm

AN ATHLETIC MEETING

It was obvious that Premiership new boys Charlton Athletic would have their work cut out among the seasoned, no-nonsense veterans of the top league. At times the Addicks (whose goal-scoring ace Clive Mendonca is pictured) have seemed out of their depth. But their dauntless pluck, coupled with a capacity to adapt to the faster pace of the league, have helped them hold their own against the likes of Arsenal and Liverpool. This chin-up spirit has garnered the admiration of many a grizzled pundit (most of whom agree that the match that secured Charlton's promotion – a nail-biter of a meeting with Sunderland at Wembley – was among the most passionate of recent play-offs) and might just unnerve their hosts this week, a Spurs side that has looked pretty lethargic of late. However, the appointment of new Spurs manager George Graham may have given the home side a much-needed boost.

LIVE MIDDLESBROUGH V NOTTINGHAM FOREST SKY SPORTS 3 3.00PM

This is a clash of the top two teams from last year's Nationwide Division One, and is a game both will expect to win. Boro have made a brighter start to their Premiership campaign than their last visit, two seasons ago, and have Gazza (right) supplying some crisp passes to hungry goal-scorers like the rejuvenated Hamilton Ricard. But Dave Bassett's Forest thumped Boro last season in a home match, so he'll know that, even at the Riverside Stadium, they will be in with as good a chance as any of a vital away win.

12.00 NIGHT TIME

LIVE TOTTENHAM V CHARLTON SKY SPORTS 1 7.00PM

A London Derby that has the fancy types of Tottenham facing the hard-working artisans of Charlton. Style against work rate? That might be the romantic view from north London, but it won't wash south of the Thames. Spurs (whose David Ginola is pictured) have employed the services of George Graham and are hoping that the former Leeds manager will bring about a change in fortune. But that won't worry Charlton's Alan Curbishley, who's sculpted a team that's hard to beat and scores through men like Clive Mendonca.

DICKIE DAVIES'S SPORTING HEROES
SKY SPORTS 3 2.00PM

Dickie is coming to the end of his fascinating series of chats with some of the men and women who have shaped sport in Britain over the last 30 years. Today's hour-long interview is with one former hero who doesn't hold back in speaking his mind about the current state of his sport – golfer Tony Jacklin. The winner of the Open and US Open won even more credit for captaining Europe to Ryder Cup victories after years of defeats. Needless to say he still has firm opinions.

FILM

Ninotchka
TNT 10.00pm
Directed by the masterful Ernst Lubitsch, this is perhaps Greta Garbo's most brilliant film. She plays a Russian emissary in Paris who tries to sell off the royal treasure, but she falls for a playboy and is transformed from a dull government official into a bright, pleasure-loving charmer.

GENERAL

The History Man
UK Arena 9.30pm
This four-part adaptation of Malcolm Bradbury's novel starts tonight and follows Dr Howard Kirk (Anthony Sher), a lustful sociology lecturer. The mood of the UK university scene of the Seventies is one of faded radicalism but Kirk intends to fan the flames of revolution for his own means.

SPORTRAITS
SKY SPORTS 3 3.00PM

This series profiles great sporting names past and present and often puts together a juicy duo. How about Muhammad Ali and Michael Johnson? These two men lifted their respective sports of boxing and 200-400 metre sprinting up to levels of achievement and grace that were unimaginable. This is the kind of half-hour show that any sports fan would kill for. Ali is a living legend, while Johnson's running style – non-traditionally upright – is just one of his remarkable qualities.

LIVE SENIOR TOUR GOLF SKY SPORTS 2 9.00PM

The Energizer Senior Tour Championship rounds off this big-money competition that is so popular with both viewers and players. To add spice to the tour this year, a few more non-Americans, like Vicente Fernandez of Argentina, José Maria Canizares of Spain and John Bland of South Africa, are making inroads. Add in Jack Nicklaus, Hale Irwin and Gil Morgan for some home favourites and this opening day is set to be as interesting as any golf tournament this month.

LIVE VICTORY SHIELD FOOTBALL SKY SPORTS 1 7.00PM

Northern Ireland take on England in what could prove to be a passionately played affair in this latest Victory Shield encounter from the Showground in Ballymena. Full marks to Sky for providing such prestigious airtime for this schoolboy fixture – it would have been easy to have relegated the game to a graveyard slot. But schoolboy football is refreshing and fun, and it also gives fans an inside track on the possible future stars of the national teams.

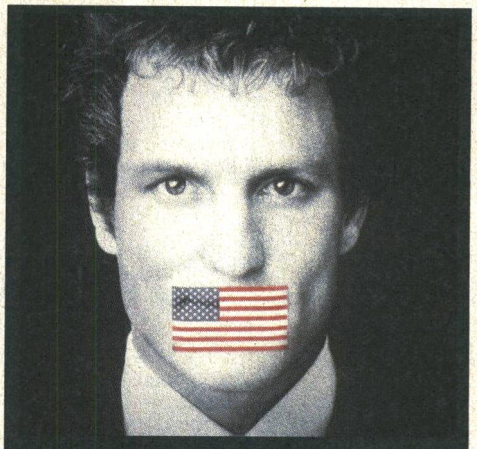
SECTION TWO

Saturday 7th November – Friday 13th November

PARK LIFE

The defiantly crude art work, the gleeful, childish cruelty of its comedy, and such inspired flourishes as having soul star Isaac Hayes contribute his hot buttered vocals to the character of the school cook, Chef, combine to give the adult animation series South Park a cult clout that has won it a loyal following. This week, a new series following the antics of the foul-mouthed eight-year-olds Stan, Kyle, Cartman and Kenny (who is doomed to die in every episode!) is unleashed upon Sky One's screens. In the opening episode, the identity of Cartman's father comes under discussion.

Sky One Sunday 8th 11.00pm



IN LIKE FLYNT

In The People vs Larry Flynt, Woody Harrelson amazes with his portrayal of the publisher of confrontational porn magazine Hustler. Harrelson gives a larger-than-life performance, but allows space for his fellow players to soar: Courtney Love is revelatory in her uninhibited role as Flynt's drug-addicted wife, while Edward Norton is excellent as his lawyer.

Sky Premier Saturday 7th 10.00pm

MAJOR LEAGUE 2

A rambunctious evening of rugby league is guaranteed as Great Britain and New Zealand meet this week under the floodlights of Bolton Wanderers's Reebok Stadium for their latest dirt-under-the-fingernails clash – the second in a three-test series. Great Britain (whose Jason Robinson is pictured) are still chagrined after losing 3-0 against the Kiwis in 1996, and fans are hoping they can channel this grudge into an aggressive energy that will upset their opponents. But the tourists boast a fine side that includes Henry and Robbie Paul and the tough trio of Matthew Ridge, Stephen Kearny and Stacey Jones from the Auckland Warriors.

LIVE RUGBY UNION
SKY SPORTS 2 2.00PM

The Allied Dunbar Premiership is in its infancy, but traditional rivalries between English rugby union teams are well established, and that includes Leicester and Bath who meet today. Bath are an awesome proposition and their current side is brimming with talent, such as fullback Matt Perry and former All Black Jon Preston. But, just as Leicester are still adjusting to the professional game, Bath have lost the pre-eminence with which they dominated the early Nineties.

LIVE LEEDS UNITED V SHEFFIELD WEDNESDAY SKY SPORTS 1 3.00PM

We're in Yorkshire for Leeds' clash with Sheffield Wednesday. Both teams have only a few men of Yorkshire grit in their line-ups, but the terraces will be full of them. Leeds' foreign legion is led by Jimmy Hasselbaink (right) of Holland, whose goals have helped take the club into Europe. Meanwhile, the Italian connection between Benito Carbone and Paolo Di Canio at Wednesday has been broken with the suspension of Di Canio for pushing over a referee during September's clash against Arsenal.

STORY OF THE FA CUP – SKY SPORTS 1 8.00PM
NFL DOUBLE HEADER – SKY SPORTS 3 12.30PM

Just in time for this weekend's opening round of the FA Cup comes the story of the 1997/98 competition, which was won so comprehensively by Arsenal over luckless Newcastle. But there were many stories scattered throughout the seven months of action.
And later on Sky Sports 3 there are two awesome American football contests. Dallas take on arch rivals the New York Giants in the opener, with Kansas City heading for high-flying Seattle in the second.

LIVE WORTHINGTON CUP FOOTBALL SKY SPORTS 2 7.30PM

The early rounds of this much-maligned competition were great shock-providers with the likes of West Ham, Southampton and Sheffield Wednesday being brought to their knees by supposedly inferior opposition. The format for these fourth-round games is the normal one-off cup tie affairs, and the Premiership teams will start to smell the Uefa Cup place that goes with ultimate victory of the competition. It seems, though, that Man U and Arsenal may be more committed to the Champions League.

GET YOUR SKATES ON

In Brink!, in-line skating is the passion of Andy Brinker (Erik Von Detten), also known as Brink. But while Brink and his posse skate for the love of it, Val (Sam Horrigan), who runs a sponsored rival team, X-Bladz, is in it purely for the money. This is a fast and furious sport and, as the sharpest skater on the beach, Brink is someone that X-Bladz would dearly like to have on their side. So will he stick with his friends, or can he be lured by the temptation of fame and fortune that X-Bladz can offer him? With some great stunt action and a teenage dilemma to get your teeth into, this movie could really bring you up to speed!

INFORMATION OVERLOAD!

Steven Spielberg's Freakazoid comes to Cartoon Network this month. This award-winning series follows the capers of shy American school kid Dexter Douglas, who one day crashes on the information superhighway while surfing the internet. Dexter is transformed into Freakazoid, a super-hero and crimefighter. With the help of his friends, including Sgt Cosgrove and the English Lord Bravery, he sets about confronting enemies like The Lobe, a brilliant but evil genius with a very large head!

LITTLE MISS DOOLITTLE

Follow the adventures of 12-year-old Eliza Thornberry (Lacey Chabert), who is able to, quite literally, talk to the animals. With her unlimited curiosity and secret conversational skills, Eliza journeys around the world sharing adventures with some of the most mysterious creatures on the planet. She is helped out by her sidekick, Darwin, the charismatic chimpanzee. The series features the voices of Danielle Harris from Roseanne as Eliza's older sister Debbie, and Flea from Red Hot Chili Peppers as their adopted brother Donnie.

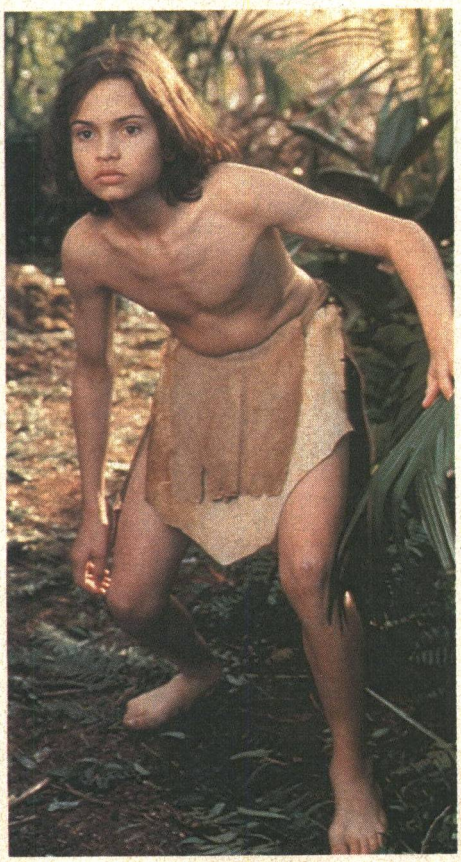
ANIMAL MAGIC



Sean Price McConnell has the kind of life most kids can only dream about. For most of the year he lives and studies in his home town of LA. But when he's working, the 16-year-old star of Mowgli: The New Adventures of the Jungle Book spends his time in the rainforest of Costa Rica, acting alongside specially trained wild animals, including bears, tigers, panthers, monkeys and elephants. 'That's the really fun part of doing the show,' says Sean. 'It's just such a different experience to anything I've ever done.' Sean plays Mowgli, the young boy who survived a plane crash and was brought up in the jungle by the animals. The stories are based on Rudyard Kipling's novel and the cast and crew spent five months in Costa Rica filming the series. Sean is now back in LA and back at school. Apart from being a science freak, he loves sports – ice-skating, soccer, karate and table tennis are a few of the things he likes to do. So what's Sean's favourite animal? Monkeys? Tigers? Elephants? We reckon it's Dakota – his pet Siberian Husky.

WORLD POOL MASTERS 1998
SKY SPORTS 1 7.00PM

Who hasn't played pool at some time during their life? The answer is that almost everyone has tried their hand at this mini version of snooker, but men like defending World Masters champion Earl Strickland can do things with a cable and nine balls on that tiny table that look impossible to us ordinary humans. This year's tournament from the Lakeside Shopping Centre in Essex also features homegrown snooker heroes Ronnie O'Sullivan and Steve Davis.

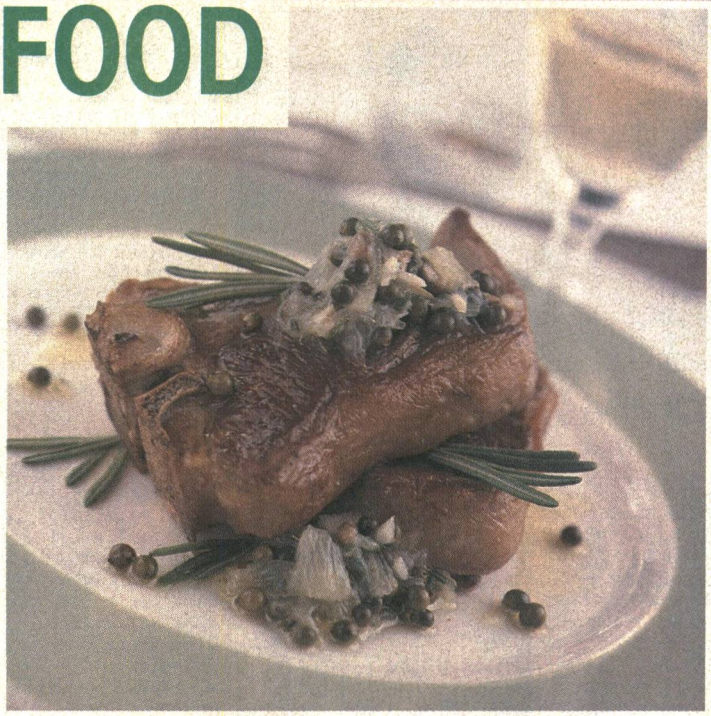
FOOD



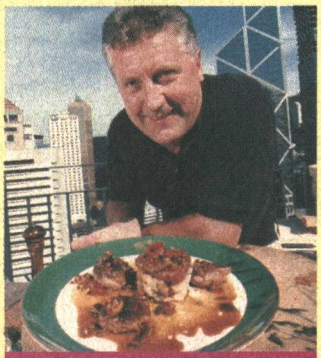
HENRY'S GRILLED LAMB CHOPS WITH A GREEN PEPPERCORN, LEMON AND ROSEMARY DRESSING

Ingredients

1 large lemon to segment
1 tin green peppercorns
2 sprigs rosemary
1 anchovy fillet
2 cloves garlic, chopped
12 lamb chops

Method

Segment the lemon and mix all the ingredients except the lamb. Heat a ridged griddled plate and cook the lamb. Finally, place the lamb on a plate and spoon the dressing over it.



Carlton Food Network

Turner's Tour of Hong Kong
Mondays 2.00pm

Cool Britannia

While such Carlton Food Network programmes as Antony's Morocco, An Umbrian Kitchen and Turner's Tour of Hong Kong have gone global in search of exciting gastronomic delights, the channel's new 26-part series Thoroughly Modern British goes back to basics in an unabashedly patriotic celebration of the dishes that make Britain great.

The series is hosted by Henry Harris, head chef of the acclaimed restaurant at London department store Harvey Nichols, who demonstrates great skill in taking such traditionally robust British fare as roast pheasant and giving it an undeniably stylish, modern spin. One of Henry's mouth-watering recipes is on the left.

Carlton Food Network

Thoroughly Modern British
Starts Tuesday 3rd 1.30pm

Hong Kong foodie

Top celebrity chef Brian Turner continues his quest for the ultimate in Chinese cuisine this month in Turner's Tour of Hong Kong, a hugely entertaining combination of travelogue and cooking show. Armed with a wok and some of the freshest traditional ingredients to be found in the former colony's bustling street markets, Brian shows viewers how they can recreate the authentic taste of the Orient. And when he's not preparing such favourites as Peking duck and noodles with black bean sauce, Brian is off learning kung fu, visiting a herbalist, or being measured up for a suit at the world-famous Sam's Tailors.

NOVEMBER BIRTHDAYS
● 6th Nigel Havers ● 19th Jodie Foster
● 21st Juliet Mills ● 24th Billy Connolly

Sagittarius♥
23 November-22 December

YOU MAY try to manipulate people and situations to suit yourself. Normally your approach is forthright, but the current stars make you more devious. To your credit, your motivation will be to protect the feelings of others.

Capricorn♥♥
23 December-20 January

THE CONFUSION around your sign ends soon, giving you a much clearer picture of what lies ahead. Some may make a decision that revolves around money, while others choose a fascinating romantic option.

Aquarius♥
21 January-19 February

PEOPLE MAY not play fair and your strong sense of justice will be tested to the limit. Expect some of your illusions to be shattered this month, but be grateful Mercury provides the gift of good communication to help you fight back.

Pisces♥♥♥
20 February-20 March

PROVIDED YOU nip minor issues in the bud before they become major problems, relationships should thrive. With an array of planets in a patient part of your chart, you'll be apt to overlook faults and flaws in others this month.

Aries♥♥
21 March-20 April

YOU MAY feel protective towards loved ones but should avoid any urge to smother. The planets help you reach new levels of self-awareness, with some of you discovering hidden strengths between now and the year end.

Taurus♥♥
21 April-21 May

ROMANTIC PROMISES and soul connections are highlighted this month. Sun and Venus combine in sensuous Scorpio to bring interesting newcomers into your life and help you redefine your most intimate relationships.

Gemini♥
22 May-21 June

THERE MAY be some touchy people in your environment, prompting you to wonder where you went wrong. It seems you'll have a guilty conscience over affairs of the heart, at least until the new Moon kicks in mid-month.

Cancer♥♥
22 June-23 July

RELATIONSHIPS MAY get hot and heavy this month, courtesy of planets in sizzling Scorpio. You may have an urge to unleash those suppressed feelings, but you must be careful not to burn out completely in the process.

Leo♥♥
24 July-23 August

YOUR NEEDS may be so powerful you'll act against your better judgement. With intense energy being beamed your way, it'll be hard to deny yourself life's pleasures and think clearly. Release tension through vigorous physical exercise.

Virgo♥♥
24 August-23 September

PARTS OF your life leave a lot to be desired, but you will feel more alive this month. And while Mars may create obstacles, it will also help you bounce back from adversity. Be brave enough to make dramatic changes in your life.

Libra♥♥
24 September-23 October

YOU'LL BREATHE a sigh of relief when an unsettled issue is finally resolved to your satisfaction. The cosmic scales tip back in your favour soon and you can safely rely on instinct when making some tough decisions.

Scorpio♥♥
24 October-22 November

PASSIONATE VENUS hovers until the 18th, making this a perfect month for love and romance. But while friends and admirers clamour for your company, be mindful of who you trust, as some people may be out to use you.

SECTION THREE

Saturday 14th November – Friday 20th November

THE GORE THE MERRIER

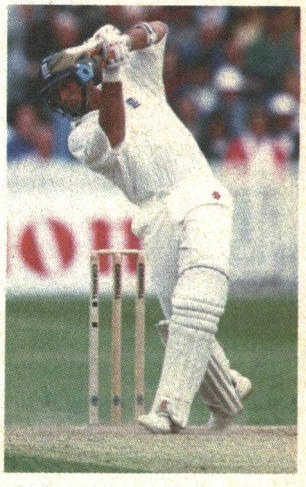
The teen stalk-and-slash spoof Scream represents a far more successful mixture of hard horror and hip humour than director Wes Craven's previous attempt to combine the two, Vampire in Brooklyn. As the first anniversary of her mother's brutal murder approaches, student Neve Campbell and her friends are terrorised by a masked, movie-mad psycho; her moody boyfriend, Johnny Depp lookalike Skeet Ulrich, is the number one suspect. Craven soars to heart-stopping heights from the outset, with an overwhelmingly intense opening involving guest star Drew Barrymore, and, while there are plenty of knowing laughs to be had along the way, he keeps the tension ticking over to the outrageous multiple-bluff climax. A shockingly enjoyable fright flick.

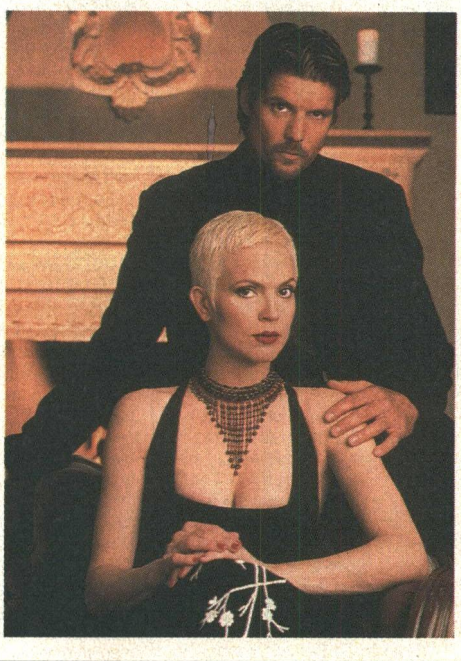
Sky MovieMax Friday 20th 10.00pm

ASHES TO ASHES

This week the England cricket party begin their traditionally fiercely fought battle for the Ashes in the first test against Australia in Brisbane. Seemingly satisfied with a solid batting side (the team's big-hitter, Nasser Hussein, is pictured), the England selectors focused most of their attentions on gathering a versatile line-up of bowling talent, which includes the controversially chosen Essex off-spinner Peter Such (who last clocked in with the national team in 1994 against New Zealand) and Surrey's towering Alex Tudor, an inexperienced but formidable fast bowler.

Sky Sports 2 Thursday 19th 11.30pm – LIVE





IMMORTAL COMBAT

The small screen spin-off of the Highlander films receives a gender-bending makeover for the British TV premiere of Highlander: The Raven. In this latest incarnation of the century-straddling fantasy franchise, the hero's sword has been passed to a 1200-year-old female burglar (former Miss America Elizabeth Gracen), who investigates a murder with a disillusioned cop.

LIVE INTERNATIONAL RUGBY LEAGUE SKY SPORTS 1 5.30PM

The English rugby league season may be over, but the international season is well underway. Great Britain have looked like country cousins compared to the swanky strutting of the sophisticated southern hemisphere's Australia and New Zealand. This afternoon, the Lions have a chance to show their inferiority complex is not permanent. They take on the Kiwis in the third Test of this autumn series and have the formidable task of taking on the combined talents of Henry and Robbie Paul.

YOUR GUIDE TO OUT-OF-THIS-WORLD SHOWS ON CABLE. WORDS: PATRICK HOLM

THE JOURNEY CONTINUES ...

The sixth season of Star Trek: Deep Space Nine is steeped in both the tragedy and the humour that fans have come to expect from the second sequel to the phenomenally successful Sixties series.

Normally in Star Trek series, it's the security guards who have to worry about being killed but, emphasising the horrors of the war that continues to rage between the Federation and the Dominion, two major characters make their final appearance this year, one at either end of the season.

However, it's not all gloom and doom. Executive producer Ira Steven Behr promises some comedic tales, many of them focusing around bartender Quark (Armin Shimerman). 'Every show doesn't have to be grappling with the darkest things,' he says. 'Sometimes we need to do a fast one down the middle.'

There will be return visits to Quark's home world of Ferenginar, which will help to counterbalance the almost Shakespearean tragedy of the fall of Gul Dukat, the Cardassian who wishes he was still in charge of the space station.

In the middle of all of this, there's a wedding to look forward to, as one of the new generation of Star Trek's longest running characters, Lieutenant Commander Worf, marries Jadzia Dax, the station's Trill science officer. Since Worf is a Klingon, with a history of barbaric rituals, the stag night events certainly come as a shock to Chief O'Brien, Dr Bashir and Captain Sisko ...

Deep Space Nine is the odd one out of the Star Trek series, since it's not based on a starship, and has gained its own identity during its run. Its seventh and final year has just begun airing in America. While newcomers may find it difficult to follow all the plotlines, it's worth sticking with as the sixth year builds to an incredible climax with the conflict between the Federation, the Dominion and the Bajoran prophets coming to a head.

Sky One, Mondays, 8.00pm

TIME MACHINE

Doctor Who

150 multi-episode stories over 24 seasons
Cast includes: Bonny Langford (Mel Bush), Nicola Bryant (Perpugilliam Brown), Elisabeth Sladen (Sarah Jane Smith), Terry Molloy (Davros), Louise Jameson (Leela), Katy Manning (Jo Grant)

While the Star Trek saga may have just reached its 32nd birthday this year, it's still a stripling compared with Britain's Doctor Who, which celebrates 35 years this month.

The tale of a time lord with two hearts, who travels around the universe in a time and space ship disguised as a London police box battling evil, has enthralled generations of youngsters. Eight actors have played the lead role, with William Hartnell and Patrick Troughton in the Sixties, Jon Pertwee and Tom Baker in the Seventies, and Peter Davison, Colin Baker and Sylvester McCoy in the Eighties. Doctor Who ceased production in 1989, but was revived two years ago when Paul McGann took on the part in a one-off feature, Doctor Who and the Enemy Within. But hopes of a series were dashed by poor viewing figures in America. The Doctor's travels have continued in more than 100 original novels, and there aren't that many TV shows that have added a new word – Dalek – to the Oxford English Dictionary! Among those to have made guest appearances in the series are Ken Dodd, Honor Blackman, Beryl Reid, John Cleese and Alexei Sayle.

LIVE COVENTRY CITY V EVERTON SKY SPORTS 1 3.00PM

Last season under Gordon Strachan, Coventry finished mid-table and spent the final month watching the relegation battle. This season expectations were high but performances have sunk to their former depths. So today's home match against Everton can be a turning point for the Sky Blues. Meanwhile, Walter Smith's Merseysiders have problems of their own and won't exactly be overwhelming favourites. It could be the tale of two centre forwards – home hero Dion Dublin (right) and Everton's Duncan Ferguson.

LIVE NOTTINGHAM FOREST V DERBY COUNTY SKY SPORTS 1 7.00PM

In the East Midlands, there's no sharper rivalry than that between Nottingham Forest and Derby (whose Francesco Baiano is pictured). Dave Bassett's Forest are battlers, while Jim Smith's Derby were threatening to join the league's aristocrats earlier in the season when they rose to second place. Bassett has his usual level of team spirit working at Forest and won't put up with prima donnas like the discarded Pierre van Hooijdonk. Smith, meanwhile, has bonded together a band of real international talent.

Days of Wine and Roses
Sky Cinema 10.00pm
An unusually straight drama from The Pink Panther director Blake Edwards. Jack Lemmon and Lee Remick play a couple who marry, but are then driven apart by failure and alcoholism. A magnificent study of marital breakdown, featuring great performances and great music from Henry Mancini.

GENERAL

Plastic Fantastic
UK Horizons 10.30am
This series follows people who are having plastic surgery and discovers their reasons for deciding to go under the knife. Each programme focuses on a specific area of cosmetic surgery and contains unflinching footage of the operations themselves. Fascinating viewing, but not for the squeamish.

The Magnificent Ambersons
Sky Cinema 8.00pm
The great Orson Welles had his original cut of this follow-up to Citizen Kane extensively re-edited by the studio; he could barely bring himself to talk about the affair ever again. But while this epic family drama is flawed, it still boasts an astonishing scope, and the majestic sweep of the camerawork is breathtaking.

GENERAL

Exotic Islands: Fiji
Sky Travel 1.30pm
This series visits some of the most idyllic islands in the world, and this episode is no exception. The 300 Fiji Islands lie about halfway between Australia and the Hawaiian Islands in the middle of the South Pacific and are home to 800,000 islanders. They possess all the beauty you can imagine.

INTERNATIONAL CRICKET
SKY SPORTS 2 11.30PM, 2.30AM

England's latest crack at the Ashes gets under way in Brisbane with the first day of the first Test between England and Australia. Stewart as opening bat, wicketkeeper and captain will be one of the key figures for England, while the middle-order batting and strike bowling will come under close examinations from the Aussies. Injuries might mean that Shane Warne is less effective these days, but there's no room for complacency with Stuart MacGill ready to step in.

WORLD CUP SKIING
EUROSPORT 5.00PM, 8.00PM

The World Cup skiing circus moves on to its traditional North American stages, starting with Park City in Utah, where we travel to today, before heading for Aspen, Colorado, and Whistler Mountain in Canada. Unfortunately for the local fans, there aren't many home hopefuls likely to be vying for top three placings in any of the disciplines. Germany is dominating the women's events while the Austrians rule the men's competition. Today's action is from the two legs of the men's giant slalom.

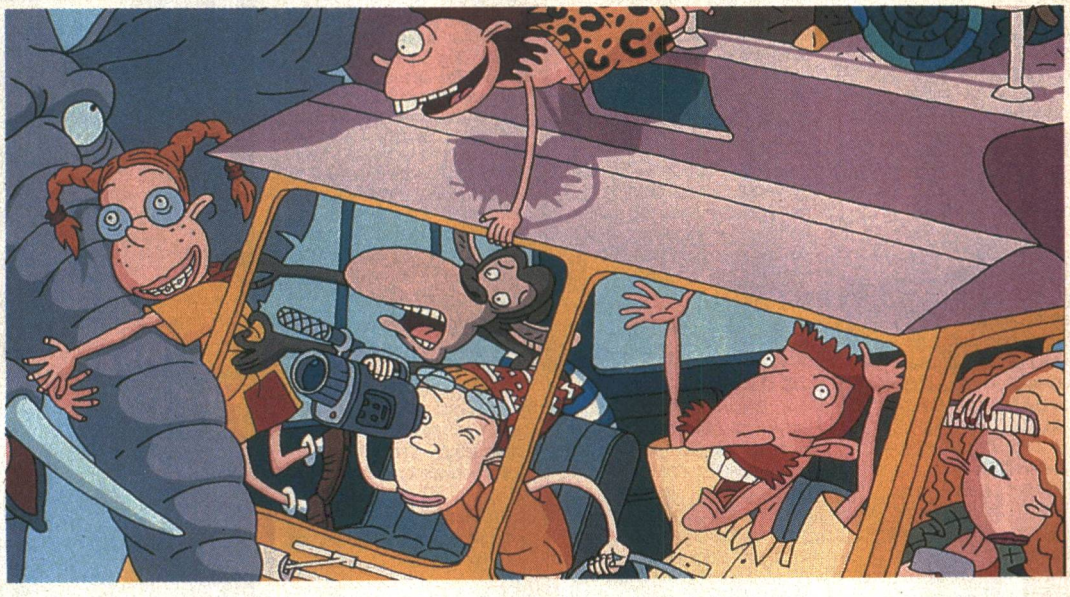
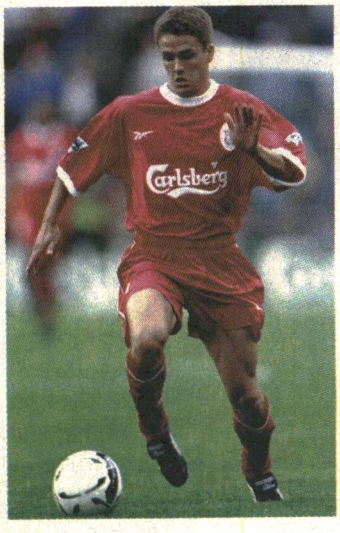
ANIMAL CRACKERS

A zany Nineties spin on the Doctor Dolittle story, Nickelodeon's new cartoon series The Wild Thornberrys chronicles the fun-filled adventures of Eliza Thornberry, a 12-year-old girl with the ability to communicate with animals. The show combines contagious comedy with a real sense of wonder, and boasts built-in cult credibility, with Flea from US rock outfit The Red Hot Chili Peppers and Tim Curry from The Rocky Horror Picture Show donating their vocal talents.

Nickelodeon weekends at 11.00am





ROVERS SEE RED

Roy Hodgson's Blackburn Rovers failed to convince at the start of the season: they began in shaky form and sank to a depressingly low ebb after a string of defeats, including a 3-0 drubbing by Sheffield Wednesday. Desperation then turned to anger back in September during a bad-tempered clash with Chelsea, to whom they lost 4-3, which saw no less than five bookings (Rovers notching up three) and one sending-off for each team (Sébastien Perez for Rovers and Graeme Le Saux). But Rovers seemed to have turned the corner after being knocked out of the Uefa Cup at the end of September, a set-back from which they returned with a 3-0 win against West Ham. If they are now back to their best they could upset Liverpool at Anfield this week. The Reds' co-managers Roy Evans and Gérard Houllier will doubtless be counting on the quartet of Jamie Redknapp, Paul Ince, Robbie Fowler and Michael Owen (left) to conjure up some of the magic they are renowned for. Meanwhile, the Rovers centre-forward Kevin Davies, a £7.25m record signing from Southampton, has the power to catch embarrassed defenders off guard with his imposing pace and drive.

GOTHAM CITY SLICKERS

In Batman & Robin, new Caped Crusader George Clooney heads a high-spirited romp that teams him with Chris O'Donnell's Robin and Alicia Silverstone's Batgirl to battle the dastardly duo of Mr Freeze (Arnold Schwarzenegger) and Poison Ivy (Uma Thurman).

LIVE RUGBY UNION SKY SPORTS 2 2.00PM

Fans are getting accustomed to switching on the TV for a Saturday afternoon feast of rugby union. The pithy words of wisdom from Stuart Barnes and the action commentary by Miles Harrison make a great combination and today's clash between two of the less glamorous Allied Dunbar Premiership sides, Northampton and Richmond, is sure to be compelling. Northampton under Ian McGeechan will always be a force, while Richmond are as ambitious as any club.

LIVE DERBY COUNTY V WEST HAM UNITED SKY SPORTS 1 3.00PM

Of all the teams in the Premiership that have embraced the concept of the league of nations, Derby County and West Ham (whose solid, reliable defender Rio Ferdinand is pictured) are the best practitioners. For all their raving about their foreign players, the player West Ham have looked to this season to make the biggest difference has been Ian Wright. His infectious enthusiasm is making the Hammers stronger and his skill today will probably only be matched by that of Derby striker Paolo Wanchope.

FILM

Out Of Africa
UK Gold 9.00pm
Thoroughly delightful Sydney Pollack film starring Robert Redford and Meryl Streep as lovers under the spell of this bewitching continent. John Williams's music washes over the story, set in 1914, as Streep's marriage of convenience fails and big-game hunter Redford comes to the rescue.

GENERAL

Ally McBeal
Living 8.00pm
This quirky series has developed a huge following in Britain. It stars the lovely Calista Flockhart as a striving, single young lawyer. It's a dry comic caper – a slow-burner that uses some surreal effects to put us in the mind of Ally, who's in a real quandary: is she still in love with her old flame?

ALLY MCBEAL 8.00PM

living

It's the big comedy drama hitting the UK and it hits living from tonight. Ally is single, (after splitting up with her long-time boyfriend) and circumstances have forced her to join a Boston firm headed by her smarmy, ex-law school tutor.

LIVE EVERTON V NEWCASTLE UNITED SKY SPORTS 1 7.00PM

The idea of watching Newcastle United under Kenny Dalglish was comparable to hanging wallpaper. Under Ruud Gullit their football is sexy again and the Magpies could return to being every fan's second favourite team. Alan Shearer's supposed loyalty to Dalglish has melted away as his team serves up chance after chance. No more goalless draws when the Geordies are in town, but that could be bad news for Everton (whose Duncan Ferguson is pictured), who find it difficult to score at all at home.

FILM

Original Gangstas
Sky Premier 1.35am
Boasting a cast that reads like a 'Who's Who' of blaxploitation movies, this urban action outing pits the likes of Fred (From Dusk Till Dawn) Williamson, Richard (Shaft) Roundtree and Pam (Jackie Brown) Grier against a youth gang. Larry Cohen, who directed Williamson in Black Ceasar, hauls the film in with panache.

GENERAL

Go 2
Travel 4.00pm, 8.30pm
Our destination is Zanzibar, just off the coast of Africa and a British protectorate until 1963. In bygone days there was a heavy slave trade in the area as well as magnificent spices. These days, Zanzibar is part of Tanzania and has a reputation for snowy white romantic beaches and a deep blue sea.

ATP TOUR TENNIS
EUROSPORT 1.00PM, 6.30PM

Winning the ATP Tour World Championship can make you a very rich tennis player. Win your three round-robin matches, your semi-final and then the final and take home a cheque for almost $1.5 million. Pete Sampras's four victories in this tournament stand head and shoulders above the next best and, barring recent injury, he'll be in Hanover to defend the title. British hopes, meanwhile, will rest with Tim Henman, our current number one, who will certainly want to be one of the eight invited players.

I'M YOUR NUMBER ONE FAN!

Kissing posters, 24-hour daydreaming, bawling into pillows and screaming like a banshee are just a few things that some of us have done at the mere mention of our favourite teen idol/band. As a tribute to all those who whiled away their youth with fantasy love, VH1 pays homage to the teen idols of the last 30 years (Teen Idols Weekend, Saturday 28th, Sunday 29th). Among the line-up are The Beatles, Boyzone and the Bay City Rollers, but here's our own list of once-upon-a-time-teen-dreams who caused a tidal wave of tears, then faded into oblivion ...

DAVID CASSIDY
'How Can I Be Sure?' crooned pretty boy Cassidy. Well, David, the thing is that you can never really be sure of anything – least of all eternal success.

BAY CITY ROLLERS
We all sang our tartan socks off to Bye Bye Baby with the Scottish quintet Les, Woody, Eric, Derek and Alan; and then, a few years later, we waved them off for real.

DONNY OSMOND
'And they call it puppy love ...' sang the toothsome one and we all hollered for joy. Then we grew up and realised it was an embarrassing mistake.

CHESNEY HAWKES
Son of Chip (who sang lead on the Tremeloes' Silence Is Golden), Chesney's number one hit single The One and Only proved to be strangely prophetic.

BROS
When Will I Be Famous? squawked the bleached blond brothers Goss on their first hit. 'In the late Eighties,' replied the audience. 'Then you will disappear into obscurity forever ...'

RICK ASTLEY
Back in the latter part of the Eighties, when you sang your number one hit Never Gonna Give You Up, you didn't expect it to be a two way thing did you?

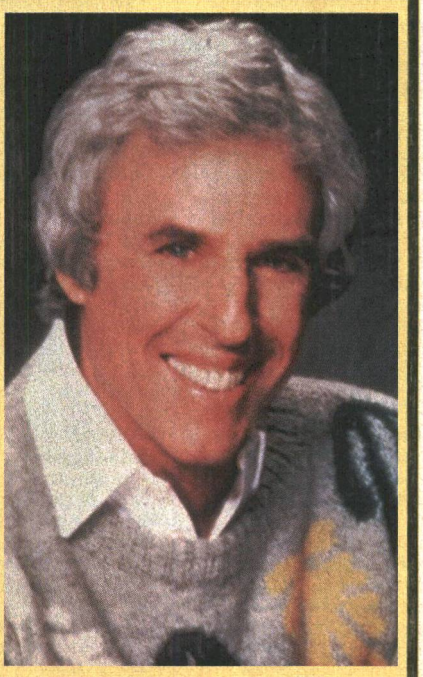
BACK TO BACHARACH



The life and work of the highly influential composer and crowned king of schmaltz Burt Bacharach are profiled in Arena People. Narrated by Dusty Springfield, the programme charts the prolific career of the legendary songwriter who, on the road to success, won an Academy Award for his Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid score. There is also an illustrious line-up of stars who quite literally sing his praises, ranging from Elvis Costello and Noel Gallagher to Dionne Warwick and his ex-wife Carol Bayer Sager. Interestingly enough, when Bacharach was asked to pick out his favourite songs from his prodigious output he chose – Alfie, Anyone Who Had a Heart and That's What Friends Are For.
UK Arena, Sunday 15th 8.00pm

Ones to watch ... Despite the adverse media attention over that embarrassing event earlier this year, George Michael remains one of the UK's most popular performers. To celebrate his talent, MTV invite you to spend A Night with George on Sunday 22nd 8.00pm, while VH1 devote a whole day to his music on Thursday 19th ... Dig out those 12-inch flares and groove on down! The 70s Hits Weekend (VH1, Saturday 14th and Sunday 15th) features classic archive performances of some of the best bands of the era including Blondie, Abba and David Bowie, plus there's a documentary on the rise and tragic fall of The Carpenters ... MTV's Fanatic (from Tuesday 17th, 6.00pm) creates the stuff dreams are made of and yanks fans out of their daily life to interview their favourite stars from music, film and television. Among the artists featured are Natalie Imbruglia, Metallica and the Backstreet Boys.

UEFA CUP FOOTBALL
EUROSPORT 7.30AM, 9.00AM

Last night saw the first-round games in the Uefa Cup competition, which has English contenders such as Liverpool and Aston Villa hoping to still be in with a chance. The importance of this stage of the tournament is that, as well as a quarter-final place being at stake, the players will get a rest from travelling around Europe until March next year. This programme has all the highlights of yesterday's games. Let's hope we can watch some English glory.

DONNA SUMMER

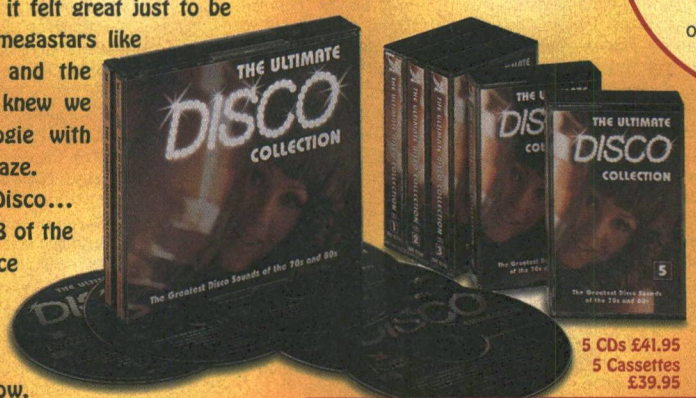
THE THREE DEGREES

THE VILLAGE PEOPLE

THE REAL THING

GO back in time to when life pulsed to the Disco beat and hypnotic lights dazzled the crowded dance floor. When everybody loved to let their hair down and it felt great just to be alive! Music was king and megastars like Aretha Franklin, Barry White and the Jacksons expressed everything we felt. We knew we could survive with Gloria Gaynor. Or Boogie with Baccara. Or hustle to the latest Disco dance craze.

Now you can relive the magic that was Disco... with THE ULTIMATE DISCO COLLECTION. 88 of the hottest hits from the 70s and 80s that set dance floors ablaze! Including 21 Number Ones! Five hours of non-stop music that brings back the glamour and the glitz, the frenzy and the fun! The greatest dance tracks, the slow, soulful ballads, and, above all, the driving rhythms of the Disco beat!



5 CDs £41.95
5 Cassettes £39.95

Listen to all the legends who captivated a generation...Gladys Knight and the Pips, Hot Chocolate, Donna Summer, Kool and the Gang, Dr Hook, Edwin Starr and many more!

Flares and kipper ties may be out of fashion, but the music sounds as fresh and dynamic as it did the first time around. Order your copy of THE ULTIMATE DISCO COLLECTION today and relive that boogie wonderland right in your own living room!

FOOTBALL LEAGUE REVIEW
SKY SPORTS 2 5.00PM

With so many quality teams in the Nationwide League, this goalfest of a show can't help but score. Every goal from every recent match in Divisions One, Two and Three is packed into an hour. That means it's as attractive to high-flying Sunderland fans as it is to those of lowly Shrewsbury. The early season pace-setters will take a little extra spotlight, as will those players keen to perform at higher levels. Neutral fans, meanwhile, can regularly check out such diverse teams as Fulham and Leyton Orient.

BARNSLEY V HUDDERSFIELD
SKY SPORTS 2 7.00PM

It was not too long ago that a match between these two teams wouldn't have raised an eyebrow outside of Yorkshire. Nowadays, with Huddersfield having led Division One and with Barnsley so beloved for their Premiership fight last year, this battle at Oakwell will be keenly followed by both fans and managers alike. Post-Danny Wilson, Barnsley are still among the favourites to bounce back and have the experience of men like forward Ashley Ward to thank.

INTERNATIONAL RUGBY UNION
SKY SPORTS 2 1.00PM

Does the score 76-0 mean anything to you? Well, every English rugby fan will have it branded on their memory as the margin of defeat when a depleted team was allowed to travel to Australia and receive the kind of thumping that emerging nations expect. It was embarrassing, it was unacceptable, and today is the chance for England to pay back the Aussies as they visit Twickenham in the Cook Cup Test match. England will be burning to win back some credibility.

LIVE LIVERPOOL V BLACKBURN ROVERS SKY SPORTS 1 3.00PM

The once-great Merseysiders are preparing for another period of domination. Gérard Houllier and Roy Evans are the joint managers who have improved the performance of a very talented squad. But the team will need to believe in themselves before they challenge Arsenal and Man United for the title. Today's match against Blackburn Rovers (whose Chris Sutton is pictured) is the kind they need to win to prove their potential. Blackburn manager Roy Hodgson would probably settle for a draw, but there's no way he'll get that without a fight.

FILM

All the Fine Young Cannibals
TNT 9.00pm
Yes, this is the film that gave the name to one of the finest British bands of the 1980s and is itself inspired by music, that of tragic jazz trumpeter Chet Baker. Robert Wagner plays the Baker character in a compelling soap drama that also stars Natalie Wood and George Hamilton.

GENERAL

The Ruth Rendell Mysteries
Carlton Select 9.00pm
Let's relax for an hour and solve a quick murder together with Inspector Wexford, alias George Baker. The first part of this episode was last night, but you'll be on the scent pretty quickly as Wexford considers the disappearance of a wayward husband whose body is discovered buried in a wood.

If the England-Australia series is going our way then this two-hour highlights show will be essential viewing. It's the third day of the second Test and all the live action is middle-of-the-night stuff, so this is a more convenient way of viewing. All the best action of the day will be on show with Ian Botham, Bob Willis, Paul Allott and the rest of the crew bringing you the background as well. Botham was bowling and swinging bat during England's last Ashes triumph and will take no prisoners as a pundit with punch.

Why the delay with new* Friends *episodes?

LONG-DISTANCE FRIENDS
I AM a huge Friends fan. I am eagerly awaiting the new series, which I heard won't be shown on Sky One until January. Why is this? Episodes one to five of the new series aired in America about a week ago. Why is it that Sky viewers have to wait so long for it to be shown? Surely there is no reason why Sky would want to delay Friends from airing.

Rob Forey

● Sky One replies: 'It's standard practice in the US to "fill out" TV series with episodes repeated from earlier seasons (it's an approach we've tried on Sky with poor feedback from viewers). This is the case with the new series of Friends. We decided it would be better to wait until the show has produced a long enough run of new episodes before we assembled them in one uninterrupted season.'

AVENGING ANGELS
I WOULD like to thank the programme planners at Granada Plus for purchasing The Avengers – it's good to see it back. I hadn't watched much on the channel before The Avengers started, but since then I have found that I'm staying for more programmes, and only now am I realising what I've been missing.

Michael Bontiff
Basildon, Essex

● Congratulations, Michael, you've won our £5 prize for best letter.

PRETENDER PULLED?
WHY have Sky One stopped showing series two of The Pretender when there are several episodes left? They've only shown seven to 14 of this season; episodes one to six were aired at the end of the pre-Christmas season. It's all starting to get very confusing.

A Baron
Derby

● Sky One replies: 'We will resume the current series of The Pretender early next year, though we have no confirmed dates yet.'

SEINFELD SIGNING OFF?
WHAT is happening to the new series of Seinfeld? September's Cable Guide listed it as being on Sky One at 8.30pm on Thursdays, but it did not appear on 10 September or 17 September.

Peter Thursfield
Earl's Court, London

WHY did Sky One replace Seinfeld with World's Weirdest TV during Seinfeld's last ever season? Cable Guide tells us that Seinfeld is showing as usual, when it's not. Seinfeld fans in the UK have been waiting eagerly for the final episode, which was one of the most watched programmes in the world. Sky are messing us around! Please put the show back on, Sky One, so we can watch the climactic episodes of what is one of the funniest comedies ever made.

● Sky One replies: 'To enhance Seinfeld*'s audience share it was decided to move the final series from Thursday to Monday nights at 10.30pm. Research has shown that the programme's profile is compatible with that of the adult animation series* South Park, which returns in November.'

CAN'T STAND THE RAIN
I AM being driven up the wall by the constant repeats on TNT. Singin' in the Rain again! The Wizard of Oz

Sky is confusing* Seinfeld *fans says one reader

again! I could go on. And why are most of the films American? There are some excellent British movies from the Forties and Fifties. Also, why is there wrestling on TNT? Surely that should be on a sports channel.

Jeannie Gee
Preston, Lancashire

● TNT replies: 'TNT is based on an extensive library of over 3500 titles from the Warner Bros, MGM and RKO film libraries. While we continue to add to our library through our TNT Originals and take great care with scheduling, feedback has shown that viewers like to see our legendary titles again and again. WCW wrestling, meanwhile, has proved to be our biggest audience puller, though we know it's an acquired taste.'

WHERE ON EARTH ...?
CAN you tell me when I can expect to see the next series of Earth: Final Conflict? Sunday nights are just not the same without it!

Dawn Rowlands
Hall Green, Birmingham

● Sky One replies: 'We decided to repeat the first series of Earth: Final Conflict to allow fans to reacquaint themselves with the characters and story before the start of the second series, which should be on air in February.'

ANOTHER BREAK IN BEVERLY HILLS
ONCE again Sky have decided to remove Beverly Hills 90210 from the schedules for no apparent reason. During its brief return to our screens the show has been disrupted by the likes of Friends and The Simpsons. I have been a fan of 90210 since it began, but I am becoming increasingly annoyed at the lack of consideration that is being displayed towards the viewers. Particularly when I have planned an evening's viewing around the show only to see a repeat of The Simpsons instead.

Lloyd Blake
e-mail

● Sky One replies: 'While we appreciate Beverly Hills 90210 is a popular series, it did not do quite as well as we had hoped in its Saturday evening slot. Therefore, we have decided to remove the series from our schedules until we find a more suitable slot for it. The show will return early next year and, while we have no confirmed dates as yet, it will definitely not be aired on Saturdays again.'

QUICK CHANGE ARTISTS
MANY credits to Sky One for their quick changes in schedule to get rid of unpopular programmes. Even more plus points for the immense variety offered, especially at prime time, when there is usually lots of commercial drivel and game shows on other channels.

WE'RE STILL RECEIVING LETTERS ABOUT ...

THE YOUNG AND THE RESTLESS
I AM really stunned about the removal of The Young and the Restless. I have been a devoted viewer since it started and can't believe it has finished.

Mrs T Macfarlane
East Kilbride

The Young and the Restless is appreciated by lots of people of all ages and I was furious to see that it had been withdrawn.

Mrs RMT Holtz
West Midlands

TO REMOVE a serial halfway through is disgraceful. It appears that no consideration is given these days to loyal viewers.

Mrs PR Traylen
London

HOW could you take The Young and the Restless off?

BM Jackson
Kidderminster, Worcs

I WAS flabbergasted when the show ended. I wrote to Living to complain and received a letter [printed with permission below] from the channel's head of programming, Emma Tennant.

Mrs J Jones
Walsall, West Midlands

● Living: 'I am sorry to have to inform you that ... Living will no longer be transmitting The Young and the Restless. The show has not been working for us for some time and although I will be very sorry to see it leave the schedule after five years, we have decided that it's time for a change.'

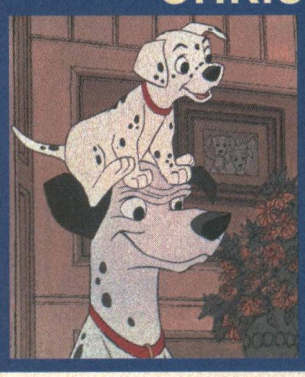
CHRISTMAS WITH CABLE GUIDE



The line-up of festive films includes the cartoon classic One Hundred and One Dalmatians and John Travolta and Nicolas Cage in the explosive, identity-swap action epic Face/Off
